ALL THIS AND SUNSHINE TOO

Tops in Entertainment World Here—They Simply Love It

By MONTE ROBERTS
The Fort Knox of the U.S. entertainment world shifted temporarily to the Victoria area today. Reading from left to right, roughly in the order of affluence: Bing Crosby, singer, actor, man of wide and varied investments. Arthur Godfrey, man about radio and television, who is down to his last half dozen planes (including a modest DC-3). Phil Harris, who parlayed a Barleycorn (but undeserved) reputation into a fair assortment of substantial assets, including Alice Faye.

Also, the respective business managers of Mr. Crosby and Mr. Harris, who are not doing too badly. And millionaire ex-fighter (world welterweight champ in the early '30s) Jimmy McLarnin, golfing pal of Bing and Phil.
How all these stalwart citizens happened to be here on the same day can be expressed in a phrase dear to the hearts of our Publicity Bureau: VANCOUVER ISLAND IS BEAUTIFUL.
Crosby and Harris are perennial Vancouver Island visitors. As Bing mentioned today, during a stroll up Government Street: "I feel comfortable here. Almost as if it were my home town."

As if to prove it, Victoria citizens who passed us as we walked along the street paid no attention to the slight, slouched figure of Bing Crosby, and nobody asked for his autograph. Nobody asked for my autograph, either, but two people said hello, and nobody said hello to Bing.

WENT OVER HIGH
The Arthur Godfrey story is a little different. This was his first visit to the Pacific Northwest—except, as he put it, "on the way to Alaska, and I was too damn high up to see how beautiful this country is."
Godfrey arrived at Sidney this morning aboard the chartered Seattle yacht Cadwre—in which Crosby visited Victoria two years ago.
Waiting for him at Patricia Bay airport was his private DC-3—a twin-engine job at least large enough for Mr. Godfrey, whose hassles with the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Commission have made more headlines than private pilot Godfrey likes.
Aboard the Cadwre he expressed sincere regrets on leaving B.C. waters.
"We've been up to Princess Louise Inlet," he said. "It's the most beautiful country in the world—there couldn't be a prettier spot anywhere. There just couldn't be."
Today's meeting was this reporter's first with Mr. Godfrey, so the conversation opened with a fatuous question: "What have you been doing?"
"Fishing?"
"No," said Mr. Godfrey, gravely. "White slaving."

Diefenbaker Accepts U.S. Security Pledge

'Not Explicit' But Satisfactory

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he is satisfied the United States government in the future will not use Canadian-supplied security information about Canadians in a manner unacceptable to this country.
While a U.S. note on the subject was "not explicit," he added today that the note contains an implicit promise which he is accepting.
"I regard this as an understanding, clear and unequivocal," he said to reporters.
Mr. Diefenbaker spoke with newspaper men during a lunchtime recess in a cabinet meeting.

4-MONTH DELAY

The U.S. note, made public in Ottawa and Washington Thursday, was in reply to a Canadian request last April 10 that security information on Canadians supplied to the U.S. by this country be kept under the control of the American administration.
Signed by Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, the note was delivered in Washington Tuesday to Norman Robertson, Canadian ambassador to the U.S. It said:
"The procedures which have been followed by the security agencies of my government in the past and which they will continue to follow in the future, including the handling of information received from Canadian sources, are consistent with the assurances you seek."
A statement issued later by Mr. Diefenbaker's office said in part:
"When asked to comment upon the United States note published today concerning exchange of security information, Mr. Diefenbaker noted that the views expressed in the Canadian note of April 10 on this subject had been passed on to Congress and said that his general impression was that while the United States note was not explicit, it seems evident that the directive given United States agencies concerning their procedures in handling security information is consistent in substance with the assurance Canada had sought."

FURTHER TALKS

Mr. Diefenbaker, who is also external affairs minister, said the government will give careful study to the U.S. note. He welcomed U.S. suggestions of further consultations concerning security arrangements.
The April 10 Canadian request stemmed from the April 10 suicide in Cairo of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt. His death followed by less than a month allegations by the U.S. Senate internal security sub-committee that Mr. Norman was a Communist.
There was no comment on the Murphy note from the sub-committee headed by Senator James Eastland (Dem., Miss.), nor did the Canadian Embassy in Washington have anything to say.
Murphy's note apparently tried to walk the thin line between satisfying the Canadian demand and antagonizing the sub-committee. The silence from both quarters indicated he had succeeded.

British Star's Big Speedboat Flies 200 Feet

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (UP)—Donald Campbell's fifth and final attempt on Canandaigua Lake to break his world's water speed record in his jet hydroplane Bluebird ended in near-tragic failure today.
The British speedboat averaged 209.25 miles an hour for this compulsory two runs this morning, some 16 miles an hour short of his record set last year on England's Lake Coniston.
Campbell's narrow escape came in the middle of his south run. Bluebird was traveling approximately 240 miles an hour when it hit a swell caused by a small pleasure craft which moved across the lake prior to the run.
"I was afraid I was going to flip," Campbell who was visibly shaken, said. "The Bluebird was airborne for about 200 feet."
Campbell slowed down as rapidly as safety allowed, and still finished the run with an average speed of 220.83 miles an hour. His record average is 225 miles an hour.

MERGER ISSUE DOMINATES SATURDAY SAANICH VOTE

Saanich ratepayers vote Saturday on a proposed $225,000 municipal hall renovation and addition, but their ballots will have a strong bearing on the long-standing amalgamation issue.

Approval of the project will doom the proposal for a joint Victoria-Saanich municipal hall—considered a logical first step towards amalgamation of the two municipalities.

A negative vote will be interpreted as a desire by voters for investigation of amalgamation.

- Here are the facts:
1. Voting 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.
 2. Thirteen polling places. (See Page 3.)
 3. 19,880 eligible to vote.
 4. Only property owners on current year's voters' list can vote.
 5. Sixty per cent majority needed to pass.

Senate Rescue Of Foreign Aid Ike's One Hope

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland told President Eisenhower today that with Democratic help the Senate may restore a "substantial" part of the $89 million dollars, chopped from foreign aid funds by the House.

Knowland said after a breakfast strategy conference with Eisenhower that the President's threat to call Congress into special session to boost the mutual security appropriation was not discussed, but it remained a strong possibility.

In cutting back the aid bill Thursday, the House ignored the special session threat and urgent appeals from Eisenhower and Democratic ex-president Truman. It voted a total of $3,191,810,000 (B)—including $2,524,760,000 (B) in new money and $667,050,000 (M) in carryover funds. This is a reduction of $1,287,000,000 (B) or 30 per cent less than Eisenhower's "bare bones" demand.

It was one of Eisenhower's worst Congressional defeats.

Knowland said he would "explore on a bipartisan basis" how much of the slash could be put back by the senate, which will take up the bill next week.

Knowland said the President "is hopeful that the Senate will be able to review the House action and restore a substantial part of the amount cut." He added, however, that he did not think Congress will finally restore all the House cut.

Acting Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield predicted the Senate appropriations committee and Senate will approve between $2,800,000,000 and three billion dollars. He said the final Congressional figure would be somewhere between that and the $2,524,760,000 house total.
No Senate action is expected before next week.

Syrian Planes Force American Craft to Land

LONDON (UP)—Cairo radio reported today that Syrian planes forced an American plane to land in Damascus Thursday "for hovering over Syrian territory without obtaining permission."
"A squadron of Syrian planes forced the American plane to land when it ignored the warning while flying over Syrian territory," the Cairo broadcast said.

JAGAN WANTS FULL POWER

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (CP)—A once-jailed East Indian dentist who was ousted from power by British authorities in this South American colony in 1953, but came back to win an election victory this week, says he is ready to ask the governor for a virtual free hand in running the government.

L. B. PEARSON

IN THE TIMES

'Mike' Turns Newspaper Columnist

Lester B. "Mike" Pearson, recognized by all shades of opinion as one of the great international figures developed by Canada, will begin writing for Times readers Saturday.

The minister of external affairs in the defeated Liberal administration, has turned to writing a national column. Once a week he will tell the inside stories of big things that are happening in the nation and the world.

Mr. Pearson has been touted as the possible next leader of the Liberal party, a post that could make him a future prime minister of Canada.

His great work for Canada at home and abroad, and in the United Nations, make him a storehouse of information that few people have. His writing is clear and dramatic. In politics he writes all his own speeches and has the turn of phrase which lifts him far above the ordinary.

Times readers will undoubtedly follow his column with the greatest interest.

Phone Rates Increase in East Asked

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Bell Telephone Company of Canada filed an application with the board of transport commissioners today for approval of increased telephone service rates in Ontario and Quebec.
The company, which said it needed $24 million more in operating revenues during the coming year, asked for the increases to be made effective not later than next Jan. 1.
The increases varied from point to point on the telephone company's system.
The Toronto rate, now $4.25 per month for two party residence phones and $14.00 for one party business lines, would be raised to $4.65 and $17.25.

City Cadet Winner Of Rifle Aggregate

A 16-year-old Victoria air cadet is winner of the Burke aggregate at Dominion of Canada Rifle Association matches at Ottawa's Connaught Ranges. It was announced by the DCRA today.

He is Peter N. Roche (son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Roche, 3159 Glasgow). He also received $100 cash prize.

Peter, a Victoria High School grade 10 student next term, scored a total of 594 of a possible 625 points in seven major matches to beat out all other competitors in their first year in the DCRA shoot.

The Burke award means he beat all other cadets or juniors in their first year on the range in official shoots.

He has been a Royal Canadian Air Force Cadet two years, holds the rank of sergeant with the Kinsmen Squadron here, and is slated for promotion next month. He's a member of the rifle team.

"He is an excellent cadet," said his officers today.
Peter qualified to go to Connaught Ranges in test shoots between cadets of all three services in Vancouver.

'SOCREDS MISLEAD PUBLIC'

Double-Taxes in B.C. Blasted by CCF Chief

SURREY (CP)—B.C. citizens are the most overtaxed and unnecessarily taxed people in North America, provincial CCF leader Bob Strachan said Thursday.

Mr. Strachan, speaking in support of Len Sheppard, CCF candidate in the Delta by-election, said the Social Credit government was double-taxing for single government services and projects.

He accused Premier Bennett of misleading the public on the necessity of toll bridges and the 5 per cent sales tax which pays for provincial hospital insurance.

"The highway act stipulates that three cents of the 10-cent gasoline tax be specifically earmarked for highways and bridges."

"If Premier Bennett has toll bridges he doesn't need the three cents extra tax on gasoline," Mr. Strachan said the premier was using "flummery and humbug" to pull the wool over the eyes of B.C. citizens in connection with hospital insurance.

"He says the government has subsidized the BCHS to the tune of $233,000 in the last three years," he said. "But in the year 1955-56 the government transferred $2,623,814 from hospital insurance funds to general revenue."

"In the last completed fiscal year the Social Credit government gouged more than $6,000,000 from the people which was supposed to go to hospitals and didn't."

"No wonder the premier can't find the $17,000,000-odd he did not know he had."

Wenner-Gren Plan Finances Secure

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Financing of the billion-dollar industrial scheme of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Ltd. in British Columbia Rocky Mountain trench will not be affected by United States or Canadian financial conditions, managing director Bernard Gore said here Thursday.

He said the B.C. development is "entirely sponsored by the Wenner-Gren foundation with connections around the world."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

God of all truth, let the light of Thy truth shine in our hearts. As our schools soon open again to lead our youth in the study of life and its mysteries, unfold to them and their teachers the sublime meaning of our relations to Thee as trustful children and to one another as brothers and sisters in Jesus Christ. Amen.

Never c'd guard what it is th' 'old guard' on Saanich Council is guardian—unless it's their memories o' th' ol' days when Saanich wuz just a few farms.

I liked th' Roundabout better when it wuz a horse trough 'stead of a horse laff.

FLU GERMS LAUNCHED BY REDS, VETS CHARGE

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars asked the United Nations today to investigate the possibility that Red China or Russia launched Asiatic flu germs in the free world. State Commander William J. Tepsix made the request in a letter to Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary general of the United Nations.

Margaret to Attend W. Indies Legislature

A visit by Princess Margaret to the West Indies next spring has been announced by Buckingham Palace, but there is still no official confirmation that she has accepted British Columbia's invitation to attend the main celebration, although they insist no formal word has yet been received.

The royal princess will attend the inauguration of the federal legislature of the West Indies on April 22, 1958, as the Queen's representative.

Some sources speculated that she might come to Canada from there. But in Ottawa a spokesman for Prime Minister Diefenbaker's office said the federal government has "no information" on whether this will take place.

Prison Walls No Protection Against Drugs Judge Says

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — County Court Judge G. W. Bruce Fraser said here Thursday prison walls form no protection against narcotics.

"It amazes me when time and again it is possible for those in a penal institution to obtain so easily the very drugs which caused their imprisonment," he said.

Judge Fraser sentenced Alfred Gordon Lowe and Arnold Arthur Dubois, both convicted at Oakalla prison farm in Burnaby, to 18 months each for drug possession.

The sentences will be served on completion of the 18-month sentences which the two were serving when they were charged. Prison guards testified the prisoners approached a known narcotics cache under a section of fencing at Oakalla.

Judge Fraser said he would have given them maximum sentences (seven years) if he had thought such action would serve any useful purpose.

He said he agreed with defence lawyers Tom Berger and Harry Thomas, who said earlier B.C.'s prisons are "of no use in curing drug addiction."

PROBE REST HOMES

VANCOUVER — City health officials will begin an investigation into rest homes here Monday.

The investigation was requested by aldermen last week, following a report that some homes were operating illegally.

Health Minister Eric Martin said the provincial health department will conduct a similar inquiry. He did not say when it will start.

Dr. Stewart Murray, the city's medical health officer, will conduct next week's inquiry.

IMPROVE AIRPORT

KELOWNA — The aviation council here has been authorized to spend another $10,000 to put four inches of gravel on the airport runway.

Some time ago, the department of transport granted $10,000 for repairing and grading 4,000 feet of runway and authorized a relocation.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

VANCOUVER — Police union representatives of municipal forces in the three western provinces went on record Thursday as favoring retention of capital punishment.

The resolution, to be forwarded to the minister of justice, said capital punishment for murder and treason is needed because it is "a strong deterrent to the potential and hardened criminal contemplating a serious crime."

The Western Canada Police Association is meeting here.

POWER DISRUPTED

PENTICTON — A third British Columbian radio station's transmission was interrupted here on Thursday.

Station CKOK went off the air for some minutes and power was disrupted in the Skaha Lake area when a car crashed into a power pole.

Police said the car was driven by Metro Makoyichuk, of Trail, who suffered a severe scalp laceration. He and his wife, who suffered a sprained ankle, were admitted to Penticton General Hospital.

PLEBISCITE SET

MISSION CITY — The residents of Mission City, which is really only a village, will soon vote on whether they want Mission to become a town.

First reading of a by-law has now been given and a plebiscite will be held Sept. 5.

Under British Columbia's new Municipal Act, a town must have a population of 2,500 to 5,000, while a village needs only 500 to 2,500. Cities are over 5,000.

FULTON, BONNER IN CONFERENCE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton, here "for a few days' holiday," says he aims to wind up his interest in a Kamloops law firm.

Mr. Fulton met B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner in the afternoon to "talk over some matters of mutual interest."

11 Ailing Boy Scouts Detained On Return Trip From Jamboree

TORONTO (BUP) — Eleven Western Canadian Boy Scouts were detained in hospital today for respiratory ailments after their plane arrived here from the World Jamboree in England.

A Scout official stressed that the ailment was not Asiatic flu but a form of "bronchitis" brought on by wet weather at the English camp, plus fatigue from the 19-hour air trip home.

Names of the 11 have not been disclosed pending notification of parents.

The boys were part of a group of 140 who arrived in a chartered aircraft Thursday. Shortly before they were due to board the plane for Western Canada, they complained of not feeling well. Taken to St. Michael's Hospital, they were found to have temperatures high enough to prevent them from travelling.

Amalgamation Foes Take Over Meeting

Look northward, Saanich! That is the admonition of Saanich councillor Eugene Diespecker, who says amalgamation with Victoria holds no future for his fast-growing municipality.

"Sidney will become a growing port as soon as a fast ferry service with the mainland is created," Coun. Diespecker said. "All hodge to and from the region will then go through Saanich rather than between Victoria and Nanaimo."

Coun. Diespecker was speaking Thursday night at the Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall before 50 people.

Ostensibly it was the last public debate on Saturday's municipal hall addition referendum, but most of the words were focussed on amalgamation.

Victoria's ferry links are "drying up," Coun. Diespecker told the meeting, and the area needs a faster service.

"Watch the warehouses and department stores grow in Saanich when that day comes," he chortled.

"There's no water out there (Central Saanich) at the present, but when it is put in it will be new. We will be joining a brand new system, not the old worn-out system (Victoria's)."

DECEMBRISTS HIT

Coun. Leslie Passmore, another stout foe of amalgamation with Victoria, aimed his fire at the newly-formed December Group.

Dubbing the group the "Brothers Twelve," Coun. Passmore said they are more concerned about Victoria than they are of their own municipality.

"They can't even find a hall in Saanich to meet in," he said. "They make statements as to what is best for Saanich from the Chamber of Commerce board room—downtown."

POLL STATIONS FOR SAANICH VOTING LISTED

The thirteen regular Saanich polling stations will be used for the municipal hall addition referendum Saturday.

Voting will be between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

The polling places: Cedar Hill School, Lansdowne Junior High, Tolmie School, Cloverdale School, Gordon Head Community Hall, Cadboro Bay Scout Hall, Marigold Scout Hall, Mount View High, Royal Oak High, McMorran's Pavilion, Prospect Lake School, St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Hall and Tillamook School.

The Deficiency Payment

THE CANADIAN FEDERATION of Agriculture, oppressed by the problems of farmers throughout the nation, has lately proposed a new solution. In a brief to the Federal Government, the CFA advocated a system of "deficiency" payments to prairie grain growers. If it is a good system for this group of farmers it must be a good system for other groups and no doubt, if adopted in one area, would soon spread to all Canadian agriculture.

Deficiency payments would operate in this fashion: The state would make no attempt to fix the price of farmstuffs, as it now maintains the price of such things as butter and eggs. It would let prices seek their own level, however low that might be. If, for example, butter sank to 50 cents a pound or eggs to 25 cents a dozen the state would not interfere.

But the state would calculate the price deserved by the producer and it would pay him the difference between that figure and the price he had actually received on the market. This state contribution is the "deficiency" payment. The consumer would not pay it as a consumer but he would pay it, of course, as a taxpayer.

The Diefenbaker Government has promised, by one means or another, to make sure that farmers get fair prices. It will certainly think hard, however, before it adopts the "deficiency" price system.

Such a policy could mean only that the state must underwrite, at the taxpayers' expense, a very large part of the whole farm industry.

As the Winnipeg Free Press observes from the capital of the prairie grain area, the cost of farming is unlikely to decline so long as our present inflationary prosperity continues, nor is there any prospect of a rise in the prices paid to farmers, at least the grain farmers. The deficiency between the farmer's actual receipts and what he deserves in relation to other workers' wages will remain.

The state, in guaranteeing to make good this deficiency on the prairies, must undertake gigantic costs for the grain industry alone. If this is fair for the prairie farmer it is fair for the majority of farmers who live outside the prairies. If it is fair for farmers where does the state draw the line? Would it not be equally fair to guarantee the deficiency in lumber prices, for example, if they fall, or for that matter, in any price which the state considers too low? Where does that process end?

The farm industry, especially the grain industry—now suffering from huge unsold surpluses, deserves the sympathy of the government and, in times of emergency, the support of the public treasury. But that is a very different matter from a permanent, automatic state subsidy fixed more likely by political pressure than by economic judgment.

Apart from these long-term difficulties the advocates of the "deficiency payment" face the immediate problem of practical politics.

It will be hard for any government in Ottawa to persuade Parliament and the Canadian people that they must commit in advance huge and probably increasing sums of taxpayers' money to the farm industry or any other industry, whatever the merits of the case may be.

Moreover, to base agriculture, or any other industry, on such a commitment may be attractive in the short run but would be very dangerous for the producers in the long. So organized on an artificial foundation, which takes no account of the market, any industry would be instantly imperilled whenever government policy changed, or Parliament refused to vote the required subsidies, or the taxpayers rebelled.

Or Will Saanich Folk Go Fishing?

NEWSPAPERS HERE AND across Canada have coaxed, cajoled, threatened, pleaded with and berated voters about the use of their municipal ballots.

The newspapers have made a sincere effort—joined by many other agencies—to impress on the public the responsibility of voting. In order to make the vote intelligent they have devoted columns of space to issues on which the public's opinion has been sought.

The results of these efforts have varied widely. But at no time has an issue, in this community at least, been sufficiently magnetic to draw all those entitled to the franchise to the polls.

The Invisible Hosts

THE PICTURE CONJURED UP by the news report of Mr. Khrushchev, on a visit to Leipzig Stadium, waving his arms and hat gaily to blocks of empty seats, is one to treasure. The citizens of Leipzig were largely unmoved by appeals to turn out to hear the Russian leader denounce the West. The reception was as cool as that accorded him earlier in East Berlin.

Mr. Khrushchev's reaction to such rebuffs has been in the tradition of the characters in "1984," George Orwell's grim novel of things to come in the authoritarian state of the future. As a handbook for Communist leaders might argue it, the people were required to fill the seats. It must therefore be assumed that they filled the seats. One must therefore wave to the seats as though they were filled. Since such waving would be the reply to an ovation, therefore it must be assumed that there was an ovation. The incident should be so described by Communist journalists.

It is a dialectic that probably never occurred to Karl Marx. But Russian experience has shown that the economic and social doctrines of Communism cannot seem to get along in practice without this sort of "factual" treatment to support them. The empty seats will continue to play their part in the grand farce—as has, no doubt, many an empty ballot box.

Mr. Gluck's Hidden Virtue

A UNITED STATES NEWSPAPER, distinguished among other things for its efforts to pluck a silver lining from every cloud, has presented an interesting comment from Ceylon on the affair Gluck.

According to this comment, the fact that President Eisenhower's ambassador-designate to Ceylon did not know the name of that country's president, could not pronounce Nehru and had, without the President's knowledge, made a $20,000 to $30,000 donation to Republican campaign funds, has caused laughter, ridicule and deep misgivings.

But, says the writer, the outcome may not be wholly unfavorable. Where else but in a democracy, he asks, could such ignorance on the part of a country's chief representative to another land have received so much publicity. Nothing like that could occur in a communist nation, the writer adds, concluding with the argument that it will be up to Mr.

Gluck to prove his capacities on the job.

This is compassionate reasoning in which the quality of mercy is completely unstrained. Nevertheless it may have some subtle justification. By general belief, one of the triumphs of British diplomacy has been adherence to the dictum that a diplomat must never score an apparent victory. He must always seem to have yielded to his opponent and prove his success only when it is found that, suffering defeat by all surface indications, he has accomplished what his country wanted.

Perhaps this is the case with Mr. Gluck. His capacities for handling the job as American Ambassador to Ceylon have been so well disguised that he may very readily be discounted by the opposition. In the parlance of sport, he could easily be a "sleeper." The question remains: How long must he appear to be sleeping?

GLORY OF OUR ERA

By B. A. TOBIN

The Masterpiece

ONE of the interesting phenomena of our times is the emergence of various new art techniques as well as new ways of using the old. Within the space of a comparatively few years, for example, we have seen many unusual approaches to painting. The familiar application of a brush to canvas has been abandoned by some artists in favor of swishing paint from a whisk or the bare hand onto a canvas stretched on the floor. Some painters have added bits of metal, wood, porcelain or other materials to their canvases, others have developed the application of thick paint almost to the point of modelling.

Tobin

There have been experiments in the field of sculpture—new materials, new treatments, new philosophies. The art of writing itself has had the attention of those to whom conventional styles have seemed inadequate. Music, the stage, the dance have each developed their experimental forms which may or may not prove to have permanent qualities.

But of all the art forms which our times have produced, perhaps the most typical of our contemporary world and the most interesting to contemplate is that style of photography which might be called "executive."

I realize, of course, that many will take issue with my terminology. They will argue that photography is not really an art, but a skill; that the camera does not give the user full scope for subjective feeling and expression.

The Real Thing

I shall leave this point to the experts. I say only that executive photography by any definition is certainly an art. It fulfills all the requirements of a subjective, emotional, interpretative process of reproduction; a slavish copying of nature is the last thing a practitioner of executive photography would wish. His art, in fact, consists in the exact opposite.

You are familiar, of course, with executive photography. Its chief and almost sole display will be found in the financial pages of newspapers, in trade journals, or in the occasional brochure put out by industrial and commercial firms.

It cannot be mistaken for anything else—an advantage which the art of executive photography holds over some other arts. Its style is invariable and readily recognizable, its message is clear, its purpose obvious, and its effect negligible.

It consists entirely of portrait photographs of business executives, directors and board members, executed in such a manner as to set them apart from all other forms of reproduction.

Each face, while retaining its distinguishing features, takes on the identifying characteristics which make it one with all other examples of executive photography. It is unique, yet one of many; it is individual yet one of a class.

The recognition marks are simple. The face will be that of a man in the 30-to-50 age bracket. It will be young, yet may have a touch of grey at the temples. It may be smooth-shaven or carry a small moustache, preferably with a hint of the military. The hair will be clipped short.

The eyes will gaze knowledgeably and fearlessly into the middle distance. The mouth will be firm—pleasant but unsmiling. The jaw will jut squarely, indomitable but not quite over the edge of determination into belligerency. The look of the face will be calm but not relaxed; it will have the appearance of action-in-repose.

Under the Dome

The well-formed forehead will be obviously full of important and sincere thoughts, but the vigorous, athletic set of the shoulders and the poised, alert tilt of the cranium will deny outright any suggestion of egg-headism.

The collar will be crisp but conservative; the tie, at least such fragment as shows, will be bright but not too bright, dark but not too dark—what in short might be called a good, solid, successful tie.

The whole picture spells courage, foresight, vigor, confidence and prosperity. It speaks of past victories that have achieved the present prominence, and hints of future victories that will carry this man, and those who depend on him, to unlimited glories.

It is, in fact, a picture of the man of today, the man of tomorrow and the man of forever. Seeing this portrait, you recognize immediately that wherever this man goes he will quickly take command in an emergency, restore order in chaos, delegate duties to lesser men, give inspiration and leadership, and GET RESULTS.

Creative Task

So much for the executive photograph. Obviously no such man exists or could exist in such full perfection. The art of executive photography consists in creating from the poor material available the masterpieces that are required. Thus, the fellow who chews his nails, the hen-pecked husband, the forgetful bungler, the miser, the mind-changer, the yes-man—all who present themselves for the treatment will be passed through the mind and the genius of the executive photographer and emerge as the ideal.

This, surely, is art in its highest form, its most superb flowering. And we may claim it as the exclusive product of our golden age.

Vote 'No'

I was very interested to read that Councillor Chatterton said "I don't think that working drawings are necessary at this stage of the Saanich Hall rebuilding." Sketch plans would have served until firm estimates were obtained, like the School Board have.

My enquiries on this point show the correctness of Mr. Chatterton's view.

I do not question the Council's action in having preliminary drawings made for the purposes of estimate before the referendum on Saturday. But working drawings? The latter would account for most of the reported $10,000 expense they have incurred, and could very well have been held up until the voters have been heard from on Saturday. A NO vote is going to make them look extravagant, to put it mildly.

Personally it seems to me that this is typical of the majority which is handling Saanich affairs today. They are honest in their convictions, and also within their prerogatives as elected representatives, I have no doubt. But I am pretty sure that we cannot afford their line of thought very much longer.

A lively turnout on Saturday to say a big NO will be a fine thing, I think.

CHARLES M. NELLES,
1999 Lansdowne Road.

What Authority?

I would like to ask the Saanich Council, did it have the legal authority, in accordance with the Municipal Act, to spend $10,000 on architect's drawings for the proposed quarter million dollar addition and alterations to an already worn out frame administration building—which expenditure had not yet been authorized by the people in accordance with the law?

Even the contractors approached have refused to tender on the undertaking until the will of the people is determined. The total cost is a matter of conjecture. Expenditure could reach very much more than the quarter million.

This expenditure (which must be paid in any case) was not necessary and is just another example of muddled thinking and apparent lack of experience, foresight and common sense which has plagued Saanich with the shortsighted, penny pinching, lame dog type of administration it has suffered from for so many years.

Why has the overwhelming expression of the people's opinion for a study of the Joint Hall question been so entirely ignored?

Be sure you vote Saturday, and, unless you want a lot more of your money spent unwisely vote NO!

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE,

Who Says 'Obstruction'?

Your correspondent, E. P. Creech, also makes some very surprising statements.

He writes that Reeve Ash gave no indication when he was elected that he favored amalgamation and that it would have been proper for him to resign because of this. Here again Mr. Editor, is another form of "woolly" thinking. If we follow this out no elected representative could introduce anything new during his two year term of office because he did not state so when he was elected. That to my mind is strictly for the "birds."

Furthermore, Reeve Arthur Ash personally favors investigation into the

The Stalemate Remains

THERE is increasing evidence, it seems to me, that the stalemate in the cold war has become so deep that neither side has much hope or much fear that it will soon be broken. The ritual of proposals, offers, demands, and declarations goes on. But there is little pretense that they are serious in the sense that they are steps in a genuine negotiation. What we are now saying to the Russians and what they are now saying to us about Germany, China, the Middle East, and disarmament is said without any expectation that it may lead to an agreement.

We are talking to the West Germans and the Russians are talking to the East Germans. Each of us is laying down terms which presuppose that the other side has made an unconditional surrender.

On disarmament we would like the Russians to give up their great advantage—their capacity to conceal their intentions and to spring a surprise. The Russians would like us to give up our great advantage, which is that we have bases within striking distance of the heart of the Soviet Union.

These are some of the marks of the stalemate. For the time being, the balance of power is such that there is no prospect of a general war, and there is no compulsion to settle the issues.

Spheres of Influence

The real concern of both coalitions—of the NATO powers and of the Warsaw powers—is inside their own spheres of interest and influence. Khrushchev is making a determined effort to hold the satellite empire in line. We are greatly concerned at the turmoil and the hostility in the Arab lands on our side of the Iron curtain.

Since change is in the nature of things, we know that this stalemate will not persist forever. The overriding question is how the stalemate may come to an end.

There are two main possibilities. One is by what is known as a technological breakthrough which would give one side or the other undoubted military superiority.

The other is by that erosion and dissolution of alliances and allegiances which are going on within the two coalitions.

There is erosion in eastern Europe, which is obviously a great worry to the Kremlin. There is erosion in French North Africa, in the British Middle East, and in the American sphere of interest from Formosa and Okinawa to Japan.

whole subject to find out the answers—a perfectly legitimate and sensible action which the members of council oppose vigorously.

Insofar as prefabricated steel buildings are concerned the reeve is on sound ground. He has stated temporary buildings can be constructed for less than half the cost of the proposed addition ($225,000). There has been nothing misleading in the reeve's statements.

I believe this addition has been rushed into simply to stop any investigation into amalgamation.

As to obstructionist methods E. P. Creech has certainly not followed closely the obstructionist methods employed by the so called "old guard." The reeve was elected on a policy of putting some business methods into Saanich affairs and has been constantly "bucked." Perhaps E. P. Creech will suggest that the councillors resign too.

Cash for Pioneers

The Centennial Celebrations are drawing near and many citizens are asking, "What are we doing for our pioneer men and women during Centennial year?" Besides "applauding" as the B.C. Centennial Committee folder reads.

It is called British Columbia's gayest birthday party. So then let us pay honor and a tangible tribute to the pioneers of our great Province—a substantial cash gift in short.

May the B.C. Centennial Committee come out and announce in concrete words what their plans are.

No Commandment Broken

I don't agree with A. Gorse or E. W. Abraham that a statue of Christ would be breaking the Second Commandment at all.

The statue of Christ should be, as I said before in a former letter to the Times, right on the Parliament Buildings grounds and illuminated at night. I am confident that this would be the means of helping many hundreds in their early childhood days.

"Train up a child in the way he should go and he will not depart from it." This is not done now by most parents even.

Snobs? Me Too

To the list of snobs compiled by Mr. Bruce Hutchison in his entertaining article in Saturday's "Times" may be added those like myself who:

Refuse to have TV in the house because nearly everyone else in the road has it.

Wait till the rush hour is over before going home because they don't like to be one of a crowd.

Won't play cards because in their youth they thought this was a "fashionable" pastime.

Avoid any movie or book that is raved about in the press.

Choose out-of-the-way beauty spots in preference to those that are recommended by Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

I am not ashamed of these perversities but I verily believe they are just as indicative of snobbery as the other things Mr. Hutchison mentions.

Suffer Vacations Bravely

ONE of that vast network of spies (a close-mouthed wife and three uncommunicative children) which I employ to keep me posted on "inside" stories has weighed in with a brief account of the Bruce Humber vacation.

Bruce, and his network of spies, together with certain other prominent Victorians and their respective networks of spies, decided to go on their vacation, as I get the story. They would move off in the 1957 equivalent of covered wagons (hydromatic gears, fishtails and all) along trails that Lewis and Clark may have blazed through territory pioneered by John Jacob Astor's fur-traders. When night fell, they would bivouac at some convenient widening in the trail.

Stott

The project indicates to me that Mr. Humber must have been reading too many of his own advertisements, or at least must have been infected by the spirit of them.

But leave the motivation to the psychologists and see what happened—as it was told to me.

RUNNING WATER

The wagon train (August 1957 variety) moved off. The first night out it pitched tents and settled down to that repose found only in the wilderness, where some enterprising individual has hacked out tenting grounds and laid down running water. Nature, too, turned on the running water.

As my spies report, it rained so hard that Mr. Humber gave up his repose for a ditching project around his tent in a vain effort to stop a river from flowing through it. The rain continued to fall. Mr. Humber continued to dig.

One by one his companions on the trek quietly struck their tents and not so silently slipped away, with certain uncomplimentary references to the life of the unspoiled outdoors.

The report from my spies closes with a valiant though pathetic quotation from Mr. Humber: "We were the last to leave. I came home on the CPR boat and left the family in Seattle."

So perishes another bright vision of the hard pioneer's life and a vacation which promise was as empty as a politician's pledge. I grieve at this result. Such a vacation, so bright in anticipation, contains the stuff of which I dream. Some day, I have believed, I too would undertake a similar safari—with or without my network of spies. The prospect has been a glimmering goal to brighten my declining years. Now it appears a pathetic hope mouldering like drenched canvas in an abandoned camp.

Yet I pluck from this vicarious disappointment a certain philosophy on vacations.

Vacations are over-rated, overdone and over-sold. Conventionally a man struggles through 49 or 50 weeks of a year for the sole purpose of lifting himself from the customary routine into a synthetic social structure during his two or three weeks' holiday.

He saves his money so he can spend it lavishly on a trip, an outing or a period at a summer resort. For a brief fortnight or so he lives it up beyond the year-round abilities of his pocketbook, his digestion and his physique. He returns home from a life of presumed luxury—a brief Cinderella party—broke, both in pocketbook and body, to what seems to be the dull rut of ordinary living. His spirit shrivels.

Now this is the wrong way to go about a holiday. At best only four to six per cent of his year can be spent in the artificial atmosphere of vacationing. If he is supremely lucky and finds enjoyment in the activities and environment of his time away from the job, he is merely nourishing a discontent, however hidden, for the chores which keep him occupied for the 94 to 96 per cent of the year he must put in.

TIME OF PENANCE

In my melancholy wisdom, I have decided to reverse the procedure. Starting Saturday I, too, will go on vacation.

My program is one of unremitting toil. I shall mix concrete. I shall dig dirt. I shall, if I can afford to buy lumber, heave scantlings around. I shall live under conditions which provide no adequate facilities for a hot bath. My vacation will be a penance.

When it is over, if I survive, returning to my home and to my job will be pure pleasure. My bathroom, with its hot water, will be a shrine. My town bed will be soft as a fleecy cloud. My reversion to a normal diet will restore my digestive organs to a state of supreme happiness.

My vacation will have been a success. It will instill during the rest of the year more than bearable, almost an adventure in relatively luxurious existence.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By CHARLES LYNCH

Tongue-Tied Defendant

NEW YORK—It is a pity that the man best qualified to speak for the United Nations has to be so tongue-tied when he is answering critics of the world organization.

Criticism there is a plenty, and many of the critics are in high places, with a good command of the language and voices that carry far. But usually there is no voice to be raised on behalf of the other side of the case—to speak out when the United Nations is under attack.

The UN possesses a vast public relations branch, and there are men in it who are both learned and eloquent. However, they are not entitled to speak out, so what usually happens is that they convey the UN side of any story to the correspondents who cover United Nations Headquarters. It then reaches the public either as the correspondent's own interpretation of the matter, or as something attributed to "sources."

The man who might be expected to be somewhat more direct in his dealings with the public is the secretary-general, Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld. In fact, of course, he is notoriously indirect—and when he speaks on behalf of the UN he almost always hems and haws. Serving so many masters, he obviously cannot be very outspoken, but sometimes his utterances are so inhibited that one almost wishes he would say nothing at all.

It is important that the public in all countries of the world develop an intelligent understanding of the United Nations, and what it can and cannot do. Helping to develop this understanding is an important part of the secretary-general's job—and he is well aware of it, as attested by the great public relations, information and propaganda machine maintained at UN headquarters.

Mr. Hammarskjöld took note of this aspect of his duties in his annual report on the work of the UN, published two weeks ago. In a chapter headed: "Development of Public Understanding," he met his and the UN's critics, and for a moment it appeared that we were at last going to get a clear expression of his views on some important subjects.

But it was not to be. On the charge that the present system in the General Assembly of one vote for one country, regardless of population, influence, or the weight of responsibility it carries in international affairs, is inequitable, Mr. Hammarskjöld noted that some had suggested a qualification of voting powers. He went on to say that others had voiced concern for all interests.

Turning in the next breath to the veto, and still not identifying his sources, the secretary-general said: "These same quarters criticized the rule of unanimity of the permanent members of the Security Council, the 'veto,' as undemocratic, whereas in other countries the rule was strongly defended. In these cases, it was defended as a necessary reminder of the relatively greater responsibility of those whose share of the burden was larger, in the face of an increasing majority of states bearing a smaller share of the costs and risks of international activities, but exercising an equal vote."

Dual Cultures Benefit Canada, Balcer Claims

EDMONTON (CP)—Solicitor-General Leon Balcer said Thursday night the co-existence of the English and French cultures in Canada is not an obstacle to the nation's development but a source of greatness without parallel in the world.

Addressing 450 French-speaking educationists from across Canada attending their 10th annual convention, Mr. Balcer said that French-speaking Canadians are not a "mere minority in Canada."

"English and French are partners and they owe each other mutual assistance to ensure the maintenance, the enjoyment and the advancement of their rights and freedoms."

"Historically speaking, the qualities of the French and English temperaments complement themselves. Each race is capable of rendering great service to the state. It is not by fusion, but by co-operation, that the two races can render these great services."

Mao's Resignation Thought Improbable

PEIPING (Reuters) — Most observers in Peiping think it unlikely in the extreme that there will be any change in the near future in Red China's leadership. In fact, the thought never crosses their minds.

Though speculation must remain at worst guesswork and at best something like literary detection—probably fewer than 50 persons know what goes on in the minds of top leaders—there does not seem to be any indication of Mao Tse-tung resigning through "tiredness" or any other cause.

He was reported to have told his audience when he made his now-famous speech on "contradictions within ranks of people" that he was tired.

CIL Workers Pay Dispute Goes to Board

A conciliation board will be set up to attempt settlement of a wage dispute between Canadian Industries Limited and 150 workers at its James Island explosives manufacturing plant.

Conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin today said he recommended establishment of a board at the request of the union, Federal 128, Canadian Chemical and Explosive Workers.

The union rejected a company offer of a two to three percent wage increase. It is standing fast in demands for an increase understood to average 11 percent.

Baltimore Modernized

BALTIMORE (AP)—With a twist of his hand, Mayor Thomas d'Alesandro Wednesday extinguished a Baltimore trademark. He cut off the city's last gas street light and ended 14 years of yellow flickering. In 1946 the city began spending $3,000,000 to change over nearly 17,000 gas streets to electricity. It has been a gradual change-over to avoid a mass inconvenience.

By doing so he got himself expelled from the Labor party. He was readmitted in 1936.

During the war Winston Churchill gave him several posts in his coalition government, including that of solicitor-general.

Essentially a "human" lord chancellor, he would often enliven his speeches with personal anecdotes. He once told the House of Commons he used to help his wife to wash the dishes.

During quiet spells in the House of Lords he would sketch peers in action and delight them afterwards by presenting his impressions to them.

Tall, athletic and one of the handsomest men in Parliament, Jowitt was married in 1913 and had one daughter.

As a younger man, he handled some of the most famous cases of his time. In 1937 he was counsel for the Duke of Windsor in his action for alleged libel against the author and publishers of a book called Coronation Commentary.

He first entered parliament as a Liberal in 1922. In 1929 he joined the Labor party. In the 1931 financial crisis which brought the downfall of the Labor government, he joined Ramsay MacDonald's National government.

Digger After Unprecedented Ninth Victory

Digger O'Dell, firmly established as the top driver on Vancouver Island will be after an unprecedented ninth consecutive trophy dash victory when the stock cars return to action Saturday at Western Speedway.

Not since the old Langford Speedway days when Digger Caldwell had things pretty well his own way in the big car races has any driver dominated Island driving so completely.

But Digger should have a bit of competition in the main event, as Dick Willoughby will be seeking his second straight victory.

Dave Francis will make his debut in a new stocker and big car driver Bill Heller will take over driving duties from Ken Dobie, who was injured recently. Jack Spaulding will again pilot Grant King's entry, formerly driven by Ed Kostelnik.

A special blindfold race will be included in the eight-race card. Time trials are scheduled for 7:30.

FORD

There's a new kind of value in the new kind of Ford—it's the fine car at half the fine-car price.

Beneath Ford's sculptured-in-steel beauty is the new "Inner Ford" . . . the solid reason for that "big-car" ride. This year Ford is the car that's all-new from the wheels up, with brand-new frame, suspension and body integrated into one solid, silent unit.

You ride in safety surrounded by new strength because Ford builds the widest and sturdiest frame in its field. The new bodies are the strongest ever made for a low-priced car—doors close with massive authority. And no other manufacturer's car offers such generous insulation to protect you against weather, dust and noise. You enjoy the kind of comfort you once thought came only in high-priced cars.

The new kind of Ford has proved its ability to take it. Ford set 458 world endurance and performance records at Bonneville, Utah. Every way you figure it, you get a whole lot more automobile for your money in the new '57 Ford. No wonder Ford is called the fine car at half the fine-car price. And no wonder Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it!

Get the facts first hand—invest ten minutes of your time with your Ford-Monarch dealer and investigate the new kind of Ford.

Family Fumes as Peer Joins Attack on Queen

LONDON (Reuters)—A 19-year-old peer today was the centre of a family row because he joined in Lord Altrincham's recent attack on the Queen and her court.

The Marquess of Londonderry set his family fuming with a letter to the left-wing Journal, New Statesman and Nation. In it, he hit out at the monarchy and capped his criticism by making a statement that he also found the Queen's voice "a pain in the neck."

The aristocratic family, whose motto is "The Dragon's Nest is to be Feared," dissociated itself from his remarks. The long-haired peer, who has failed his Oxford University entrance examination four times and his driving test three times, said he intended to make himself scarce when his attack became known to his family.

DOWAGER ANGRY
His grandmother, the 77-year-old dowager marchioness, said she was "very angry" about the letter.

"I am appalled and horrified by the content of this letter and wish to say I repudiate every line of it. I am very fond of my grandson, but I dissociate myself absolutely from what he has written."

She has already told her grandson: "The Queen works a jolly sight harder than you." His sister, 23-year-old Lady Annabel Birley, who was one of the Queen's six maids of honor at her coronation, commented: "He will most probably change his mind and have the opposite view next week."

Viscountess Bury, the marquess' aunt, said: "The whole family dissociate themselves from Lord Londonderry's remarks. He is very young and has said some very silly things. I hope people will not take too much notice."

A former mayor of Londonderry, Sir Samuel Orr, stepped forward, too, and said he was sure "the loyal people of Londonderry" also dissociated themselves with the young peer's views.

In his letter, Lord Londonderry attacked the "flunkies and lackeys" around the throne. He defended an article condemning the Queen's "tweedy entourage" published two weeks ago by a fellow peer, Lord Altrincham, as "a bold and justifiable piece of criticism."

Most British newspapers reported Lord Londonderry's attack. The Daily Express took up four columns under the front page banner headline: "The Queen: New Shock."

The Times covered the story in two paragraphs under the headline: "A Minor Contribution."

BBC Irate Over Royal TV 'Scoop'

(From BUP Reports)
OTTAWA — News that Queen Elizabeth's television debut will be made Oct. 13 during her visit to Canada, was followed last night by reports from London that the British Broadcasting Corporation was "somewhat irked" at losing the chance to air the Queen's first television appearance.

It had been previously assumed that the Queen would deliver her first television speech at Christmas over the BBC network.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who yesterday announced the television appearance, said he hoped that the telecast, coupled with additional television coverage of the Queen's opening of Parliament the following day, will afford the Canadian public a sense of participation in the Queen's visit.

All arrangements for the Royal visit were made by the Canadian government.

Butterfly Studied

TORONTO (CP)—The Royal Ontario Museum is making a study of the habits of the monarch butterfly to determine how it gets back to Canada to lay its eggs after travelling several thousands of miles. Dr. F. A. Urquhart of the museum, who is writing a book on the butterflies, said the museum has 170 persons in parts of Canada and the United States tagging them.

"GETTING IT AT WOODWARD'S IS YOUR BEST GUARANTEE"

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

If you are one of those anglers who manages to squeeze in only one or two trips after salmon each year, you may wait a long time before finding a better time for that annual trip or two than this weekend.

And it's a good bet that you won't have to travel far from home to find a place where you can drop your line in the salt chuck with a good chance of tangling with a few fish.

It has been a salmon fisherman's summer and reports coming in from various parts of the island indicate that fishing is reaching its peak. Tyee, springs and coho are all available, just take your choice and then try to find a boat.

Coho have been providing the liveliest and most consistent action, but the tyees, late in arriving, have moved in and there are enough big springs around to keep tales of broken tackle circulating.

Hard to beat for coho are waters off the southern tip of the island. The William Head-Otter Point area has been hot for several weeks and fishing has remained consistently good off Victoria.

Wednesday was perhaps the busiest day of the season off Victoria, and rods were still jumping Thursday night. Brochies Ledge was particularly good but limit catches were also numerous off Oak Bay and Ten Mile Point.

Contestants in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby fish-off should pull in a lot of fish Sunday but may have trouble locating the big ones.

Coho and small springs have been hitting in all parts of the inlet from Deep Cove to Goldstream. Several anglers have come in with stories of big ones that got away but only Gerry Petrie, who took a 27½-pounder at the Goldstream end Thursday, and John Rose, who brought in a 24-pounder at Brentwood Wednesday have recorded button-sized catches in the past two days.

Big springs have finally turned up in good numbers to improve fishing at Cowichan Bay. Early-morning angling has been fairly good during the week and all the 50 available runs on the Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's derby have been filled.

Felix Lukovitch reeled in a 34½-pound specimen Tuesday morning to take over the top rung while Sid Harknett grabbed the second rung Tuesday with a 31½-pounder to push H. Wadsworth, last week's leader, down to the third rung.

Among Thursday morning's catches were a 28-pounder boated by John Burdies, a 26-pound spring landed by B. Riseley and the 21-pound, 10-ounce hooked at 10 a.m. by R. J. LaRiviere.

Holding down the bottom rung is a 12½-pound entry, but it appears that at least a 20-pounder will be needed to hold a rung when the qualifying period closes Aug. 24. Final fish-off is set for Sept. 1.

Although tyees have moved into the spotlight in upper-island waters, most anglers are still giving their attention to coho and springs. Limit catches have been common in most fishing spots and the coho are taking bucktail flies in several areas.

An occasional spring is also grabbing a bucktail; like the 28½-pounder Dr. Max Frost of Vancouver included in a limit catch with O. B. Allan at Qualicum Beach. First hook-nose coho of the season reported at Qualicum Beach—a 15½-pounder—was landed this week by a Mr. Lewis of California.

French Creek is having its best run of springs in years and a nine-year-old youngster was too excited to talk after bringing in a 22-pounder Tuesday. A pair of visitors had the biggest French Creek catches Wednesday. J. P. Brimson of Tacoma took a 20-pound spring and Spokane's O. B. Bruce boated an 18-pound scrapper.

Game reserve status has been removed from the land around Beaver Lake and at Mount Douglas Park. Since shooting is prohibited in Saanich, about all the difference the order-in-council will mean to the areas, which have been game reserves since 1918, will be that they are now out of game commission jurisdiction and dogs will be legally allowed in the former reserves.

It is probable that hunting will soon be allowed in the Shaw Creek Game Reserve at Cowichan Lake.

Highlights of the Vancouver Island Amalgamated Sportsmen's Association meeting at Nanaimo Wednesday was the talk given by Dr. Dave Turner, deputy minister of the recreation and conservation department and a lively discussion on foxes, which have been increasing on Vancouver Island.

The foxes, descendants of animals which escaped from fur farms around Campbell River have spread south to Courtenay and are probably here to stay although they will be targets of an extensive poisoning program this winter.

Nine City Marksmen Qualify

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont.

Nine Victorians are among the 300 shooters who qualified for the governor-general's match Saturday at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot.

Top shooter for the B.C. team Thursday was Mrs. Eileen Leary of Victoria, who fired 148 of a possible 150 as she scored possibilities at both the 200 and 500-yard ranges. She dropped two points at 600 yards and was the 16th qualifier for Saturday's shoot.

Gunnar Westling, of Vancouver, who duplicated Mrs. Leary's feat, finished 17th. Canadian Scottish shooter Ron McCreedy, with 147 points, captured 21st spot.

VICTORIANS QUALIFY

Other Victoria shooters to qualify were: Frank Drysdale, Canadian Scottish (56th with 145); Walter Burch, RCN (92nd with 144); Cadet Peter Roche (145th with 144); Pete Lunn, Canadian Scottish (147th with 143); Mary Robinson, 25th Militia Group (158th with 143); Major A. M. T. Spittal (143); and Harry Wells, RCN (210th with 142).

Fit. Sgt. K. M. Livingstone of Ottawa's RCAF Rockcliffe air station won the qualifying shoot after a shoot-off with 2nd Lieut. Peter Page of Calgary.

Both had scored possible 150s in the event. Page, a former British shot who came to Canada three years ago, won the DCRA souvenir as the tyro with the highest score in the qualifying stage.

Fifty marksmen shot off for the last 25 places as they tied with 140.

Contenders Can Begin Searching for Miracle

By United Press

The National League's chances of heading off Milwaukee's pennant express rested today on the forlorn hope that one of the Braves' bedraggled pursuers can match the 1951 Giants' "miracle finish."

The Braves just about completed "Operation Wrapup" Thursday night when they crushed the Cincinnati Redlegs, 8-1, to run their winning streak to 10 games and their first-place lead to 8½. Hank Aaron drove in five runs with his 33rd and 34th homers and Warren Spahn spun an eight-hitter as Braves whipped the Redlegs for the 14th time in 16 meetings.

That 8½-game lead with only 41 games to play places the Braves in almost exactly the same position as were the 1951 Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers led by nine games with 41 to play that year, only to have the Giants win 30 of their last 36 games and then win the result-ing playoff on Bobby Thomson's famous home run.

VIRTUAL COLLAPSE

The major difference in the corresponding positions of the '57 Braves and '51 Dodgers is that the "miracle Giants" had already begun to make their move, while all the current "contenders" are in a state of virtual collapse. The St. Louis Cardinals have lost nine straight, the Dodgers have dropped seven of their last 10, the Redlegs have lost eight of their last 12 and the Philadelphia Phillies 10 of their last 13.

The New York Yankees regained a 5½-game lead in the American League when they beat the Boston Red Sox, 6-3, and the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. The Kansas City Athletics downed the Detroit Tigers, 7-2, in the other game.

WILLIAMS AT 393

Gil McDougald's two-run eighth-inning homer was the big blow for the Yankees as Bob Turley won his 10th game with relief aid from Bob Grim. Ted Williams had two of the Red Sox' nine hits to raise his average to .393 while Mickey Mantle went hitless in two tries and dropped to .380.

Chico Carrasquel's grand-slam homer in the sixth inning enabled the Indians to snap their six-game losing streak and Chicago's three-game winning skid. Don Mossi went all the way to win his ninth game while Jack Harshman suffered his seventh defeat.

Other Diamond Engagement Rings from 40.00

How would you choose a Diamond?

Which of the beautiful gems, sparkling with many-coloured fire on the jeweller's velvet pad, which is the right diamond for you, for your loved one?

A fine diamond, like a fine painting or a fine orchid, has certain "points" that determine its quality. These are known as the four "C's":

CLARITY: This denotes the absence of an internal or external blemish when the stone is viewed under the Diamondscope.

CUTTING: Since the slightest deviation from accuracy will rob the finest stone of its fire and brilliance, the "cut" of a diamond is extremely important.

COLOUR: Crystal-clear absence of any colour in the body of the stone is usually the finest quality.

CARAT WEIGHT: Weight is important, but it is the first three "C's" which determine the per carat price of the average size stones.

A handsome sterling silver presentation case and an insurance certificate are provided without charge with all rings illustrated.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngsters who ask the first question answered each day receive a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Alan Ross, age 12, of Tulsa, Okla., for his question:

How do plants change carbon dioxide into oxygen?

The world is Mother Nature's garden, the animals are her pets. She provides for the plants and animals by keeping things going in cycles. The rain sprinkles the earth, the sun dries up the surplus water. This moisture in the air falls as more rain. And so, the up and down water cycle provides a constant supply for Nature's garden and her pets. Air, even more vital to all living things, is also supplied in a cycle—a wonderful cycle of give and take.

Animals breathe vast supplies of oxygen and return carbon dioxide as waste gas to the air. Plants need carbon dioxide to make food and oxygen is returned to the air. So the cycles of oxygen and carbon dioxide provide the right gases for both plants and animals. In fact, Nature's plan is so well balanced that the percentage of different gases in the air is almost constant.

The process by which plants turn carbon dioxide into oxygen is called photosynthesis. The word is coined from older words meaning light and putting together. Andy calls it the sunshine recipe. So far, only the plants know its secret. Nature hands on this secret recipe to every green leaf and, through the daylight hours, every green leaf is busy using it to make plant sugar.

The trick is done in the green chlorophyll of plants. The green color comes from bits of bodies called chloroplasts. In one square inch of elm leaf, there are 250 of these chloroplasts. And these tiny mites have a secret we do not know. They can make sugar from air, water and sunshine. They know the secret of the sunshine recipe.

We know that the air enters the leaves through little pores called stomata. These are usually on the underside of the leaves to prevent too much evaporation. There are about 100,000 to every oak leaf. Air seeps into the leaf through the stomata and water seeps up from the ground through the veins. The final ingredient is daylight.

Though we do not know exactly how the magic of photosynthesis is done, we have a good idea of what happens. Carbon dioxide is used from the air with the water from the soil. Carbon dioxide and water, like everything else, are made from atoms. In each particle of carbon dioxide there are two atoms of oxygen and one atom of carbon. In each particle of water there are two particles of two atoms of hydrogen and one of oxygen. In the sunshine recipe, six particles of carbon dioxide are used with six particles of water to make one particle of sugar. Sunlight is used to do the job and oxygen is given off as waste.

Let's count and reshuffle the atoms in the carbon dioxide and water particles used in the recipe. We have 12 atoms of hydrogen, six of carbon and 18 atoms of oxygen. The sugar which the chlorophyll makes is formed from six atoms of carbon, 12 of hydrogen and six of oxygen. This leaves 12 atoms of oxygen over from the basic ingredients. To the plant, most of this is waste gas, for it provides far more than the plant needs for breathing. Most of this oxygen seeps out of the stomata for the animal kingdom to breathe.

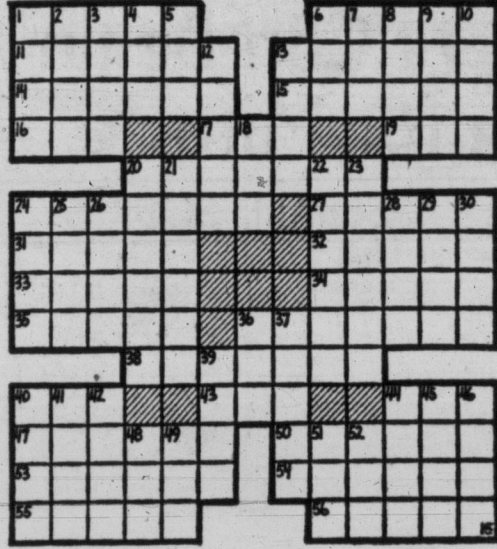

We know more or less what the chloroplasts do in turning carbon dioxide into oxygen. We know that the energy of sunlight is used in the magic recipe. But we do not know the secret of how the simple ingredients are transformed.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Herbert Goodman, age eight, of Utica, New York, for his question:

How does a worm get into an apple?

The outside of the shiny red apple looked to be in perfect condition. So Andy took a bite—a big bite. Imagine his surprise when there, staring him in the face from the heart of the apple, was a worm. Well, said our Andy, things could have been worse. I would have felt horrible if I saw only half a worm. Ha, ha.

The worm is really a caterpillar and like all caterpillars, he started life as an egg. His mama was a sensible moth and knew that her darling would want to eat from an apple day and night. So she laid her egg in the flower of an apple blossom. The petals faded and the flower became a baby apple. Inside the egg hatched into a caterpillar worm. It lived and fed inside the growing apple which was both home and pantry to the hungry little fellow.

DISARMAMENT JARGON

Strange Code Used At London Meeting

LONDON (AP)—The United Nations disarmament conference has a language of its own, including such words and phrases as cutoff, nuclear club, atomry, fourth power and playing the organ.

Each word and phrase is part of a code, designating at a glance situations or issues which would take many words to explain fully.

Despite the fact that five nations and three languages are involved in the disarmament talks, nobody is ever left in doubt when the shorthand system is used.

WHAT THEY MEAN

Here is a glossary of key words, what they mean and how they came about:

Cutoff: The first step toward halting production of hydrogen weapons. But the delegates don't simply say stop building bombs. You couldn't guarantee this unless Russia and the West could inventory each other's stockpile of fissionable materials—from which H-bombs are built. Neither side will permit this.

But they do talk of permitting inspectors to check on how much fissionable material each is producing and how this new production is being used. If this

U.K. Auto Club

Tops 2,000,000, City Group Told

Victoria Automobile Club Thursday received a cable from the British Automobile Association: "We proudly announce our membership has just passed the 2,000,000 mark."

The cable, addressed to secretary George Warren, was signed by K. L. Kelly, secretary of the British AA in London.

Mr. Warren promptly sent back congratulations on behalf of the Victoria club.

"This is of particular interest to our 5,200 members," Mr. Warren said, "since we are now affiliated with the British AA through the Canadian Automobile Club."

"All our members are entitled to full AA services for six months after landing in Britain."

Mr. Warren is now sending out Commonwealth membership cards to Victoria members and these will entitle them to guest membership in automobile associations throughout the British Commonwealth.

The British AA operates a fleet of patrol scouts who offer assistance to member motorists all over the country.

Harbin's Red, White Russians Find Language No Common Tie

By DAVID HOTHAM
The Times of London Correspondent

HARBIN, China (AP)—They are from the same country, living together in a foreign land, yet they pass in the streets with never a word. They speak the same language, but when they meet there is no flicker of recognition.

Relaxed Living Marks Victoria, Says American

Is Victoria really a bit of old England?

The question is posed by Bruce Hamby, travel editor of the Denver Post, which claims a circulation of more than 350,000.

Mr. Hamby found that Victoria's claim is justified to the extent that it offers a relaxed leisurely air that is pleasingly different from our U.S. cities and resorts.

He recommends the steamer trip from Seattle to Victoria because "the idea of docking at a foreign port is always exciting and this is a pretty fair and inexpensive substitute for a full-fledged ocean voyage."

They are the White Russians and the Red Russians of Harbin, in Red China's far northeast.

Who are the Red Russians? They are the Soviet technicians helping the Chinese run their factories and train their industrial workers. The hotels and official places here are full of them.

Who are the White Russians? They are the pathetic remnant of a once prosperous colony of 150,000, who first settled here in Czarist days, and whose numbers were later replenished by refugees from the Russian revolution.

Having fled from one Communist revolution, they found themselves engulfed in another. They fled from Red Russia in 1917; in 1949 Red China submerged them.

Everywhere in this strange city, still Russian in its architecture and in many of its characteristics, one sees these relics of a former day. They are poorly dressed and most of them are unemployed. They have little now to do but eke out their lives and dream about the past.

Their numbers have dwindled over the years, and today less than 7,000 remain of the vast colony of former times. Red China has no use for them and makes no objection to their going.

A spokesman for the central council of the Soviet Overseas Association in Harbin said that of about 35,000 Russians living in Harbin in 1949, 25,000 had returned to the Soviet Union at the invitation of the Soviet government. Others, he said, went to Australia, South America, Israel and Turkey.

But members of the White Russian community said only about 7,000 went to the Soviet Union, with 10,000 or more going to other countries in the West. They said there was extreme pressure on White Russians from the Soviet consulate in Harbin to get them to go to the Soviet Union.

Artificial Hand Realistic Enough For Fingerprints

Queen's Guard of Honor Assigned to Regulars

OTTAWA (CP)—The militia are up in arms over arrangements for Queen Elizabeth's visit to Ottawa in October.

Traditionally, the Foot Guards, in peacetime a reserve army unit, provide the guard of honor for the governor-general at the opening of parliament. They have been doing this for 50 or 60 years.

But when the Queen opens parliament Oct. 14, the guard of honor will be provided by the Regiment of Canadian Guards, a regular army unit.

NOT GOOD ENOUGH

"They don't think we're good enough," said a senior militia officer.

"For decades in the snow and rain and sleet, we provide the guard of honor. When the plum comes along, we're tossed aside."

"It's a direct insult to His Excellency, the Governor-General. If we're good enough to look after the Queen's representative in Canada, we're good enough to look after the Queen."

The honorary lieutenant-colonel of the Governor-General's Foot Guards is Hon. Brooke Claxton, former defence minister and now an insurance company executive. It was Mr. Claxton who approved formation of the Regiment of Canadian Guards in 1953. It takes precedence over all other infantry regiments in Canada.

Mr. Claxton declined comment but it is understood that he and other senior militia officers have made official protests to Defence Minister Peckers and Lieut.-Gen. Howard D. Graham, chief of the general staff, over the shunting aside of the Foot Guards.

Officials in charge of arrangements for the royal visit declined, or were unavailable for comment.

"The boys give up their time and sometimes money to turn out in all sorts of weather and then they get this kind of treatment," said one aroused militia officer, almost red with fury. "There's going to be a real stink raised about this."

DEAD AT 156, RIO MAN HAD SON AT 101

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Manuel Rodrigues Coutinho, who said he was 156 years old and had a birth certificate purporting to prove it, died Thursday. His son, who says he is 55, found his father's body in a furnished room and said the old man apparently starved to death.

50 Signed For Annual Beaver Swim

About 50 young swimmers are signed for the third annual Beaver-Elk Lake Labor Day distance swim.

Entry deadline was Thursday night but some late entries are still expected to arrive by mail. Last year 80 youngsters took part. In 1955 there were 45 entries.

Entries for sprint swims and diving contests will be accepted until competition day.

VLC Sponsorship Recommended For Senior Citizens' Project

Victoria Labor Council should sponsor the Senior Citizens Housing Society's drive to build a low-rent housing project, a committee will recommend.

The three-man committee appointed by the council at its last meeting, made this decision Wednesday night after a meeting with society officials.

Sponsorship of the project by the council would boost chances for the society of obtaining a $25,000 provincial grant towards the $75,000 estimated cost of the housing scheme for senior citizens.

Last week the council was told there was a danger that the society could not qualify for the grant unless it had the backing of a responsible group to ensure continuing interest in the project.

The committee will make its recommendation Wednesday to the council's executive, which has power to act, but the matter probably will come up for ratification at a general meeting next month.

'Flu Hits U.S. Fleet

MADRID (Reuters)—An outbreak of Asiatic flu was reported Wednesday aboard ships of the United States 6th Fleet now off the southern coast of Spain. A scheduled amphibious demonstration, to have been held off the town of Almeria, has been cancelled.

Ann Meraw Game Loser To Okanagan

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Ann Meraw was pulled from Lake Okanagan Thursday after a strong north wind made the water too rough for her to complete a 34.5-mile marathon swim from Kelowna to Penticton. She swam nearly 26 miles.

The lake water was so turbulent that the accompanying boat did not reach shore until 10 a.m. to tell of Mrs. Meraw's failure although she was pulled out at 8:17 a.m.

The 37-year-old Vancouver housewife said she allowed herself to be taken out because she couldn't see calm water ahead. Her right leg, which had bothered her all night, was dragging badly. She was taken from the lake at Paradise Ranch near Naramata.

Cornerstone Laid

CAP-DE-LA-MADELEINE, Que. (CP)—Archbishop Giovanni Panico, apostolic delegate to Canada, Thursday placed the cornerstone for a new basilica to be built at this community near Trois-Rivieres. Thousands of pilgrims looked on as Archbishop Panico placed the stone, which had been blessed by the Pope. The ceremony was one of the highlights of the annual pilgrimage here on the Feast of the Assumption.

TO THE ELECTORS OF SAANICH MUNICIPALITY

On Saturday, August 17, 1957, you will be asked to vote on By-law No. 1323, which is a by-law to authorize the Council to apply $95,000.00 of the money received from the Sale of Tax Sale Lands towards the cost of altering, renovating and adding to the present Municipal Hall.

In order that you will be fully informed on this important question, the following is submitted by the Council:

- (1) All the members of the Council are agreed that additional office space is urgently required
- (2) After studying the matter, and considering the question of temporary quarters, the majority of the Council feels the present proposal to build a two-storey concrete addition and alter and renovate the present building is the most practical means to provide the necessary space. The addition is so designed that a third storey may be added later if necessary.
- (3) This building is a permanent structure but the partitions are removable. This will facilitate the use of the building for other purposes in the event that, in the future, it is no longer required for a Municipal Hall.
- (4) The estimated cost of the work is $225,000.00 and the Council has the money on hand, so that it will not be necessary to borrow, or to increase your taxes in order to undertake this work.
- (5) The By-law to use the $95,000.00 has received the approval of the Minister of Municipal Affairs, subject to it receiving the assent of the owner-electors of the Municipality.

The Council urges all property owners to consider these points and to vote on the question on Saturday, August 17, 1957, in the manner they see fit.

Irregularly Higher Trend at Toronto

The stock market at Toronto was irregularly higher today in light trading.

Industrial shares slipped more than a point on index after a brief buying spurt fell through minutes after the open. Western oils, however, gained 2½ points on index and golds and base metals had minor gains.

Industrial losses ranged to two points while gains were generally confined to a point or less.

Demand for rails and air carriers gave the New York market a slightly higher tone today. Most other divisions were irregular in dull trading.

AT TORONTO Canadian Ingersoll-Rand lost two points at 50 and Standard Paving, Canada Iron Foundries and B.A. Oil were off at least a point. Powell River, International Utilities, Bank of Montreal and B.C. Power each added a point.

Western Oils had the strongest gains on the board. Fargo climbed $1 to $7.30 while Triad was up 45 cents to $6.65. Consolidated West Pete added 35 cents at $7. Senior issues had gains ranging to more than a point. Losses were extremely narrow.

Senior base metals inched ahead while juniors had a few strong gains. Uraniums were firmer. Northspan gained 40 cents at $5.60, while Stantel climbed 25 cents to $2.70. There were a few 15-cent losses.

AT NEW YORK prominent Canadian issues included Walker-Gooderham, up 2½; International Nickel, up ½, and Hudson Bay Mining, down ½. Dome Mines and Distillers-Seagrams each lost ½.

Oils were active and higher among Canadian stocks on the American exchange. Fargo Oil added 9-16, Jupiter 1-16 and Scurry-Rainbow 1-16.

AT MONTREAL industrial shares took a downward turn during moderate trading on the stock exchange here.

AT LONDON fears that the pound will fall with the French franc continued to be a bearish influence on the stock exchange today but there was some small selective demand.

Glittered securities continued lower. Transatlantic stocks were better, in line with Thursday's Wall Street rally. Canadian Pacific closed higher after losing at first, Hudson Bay was prominent.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dealings were along quiet lines today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Most commercial demand in corn and barley trading was of a domestic nature. Prices moved narrowly—as some buying was prompted by private crop reports indicated lower production in Canada.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: Germany 200,000 bushels, United Kingdom 840,000.

Headed prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all down ¼ cent from Thursday with the exception of 1, 2 and 3 durums, all down 5/8.

| NET INCOME UP | | | |
| MONTREAL (CP)—Anglo-Canadian Telephone Company today announced consolidated net income of $911,702 for the first six months of 1957, compared with $907,373 for the corresponding period last year. | | | |
| Consolidated net income for the 12 months ended June 30 was $1,848,887 compared with $1,751,103 the previous year. | | | |
| CHICAGO (CP)—Wheat and soybean futures made a fair recovery on the board of trade today but corn fell back again after an early rally. | | | |
| Buying in wheat was influenced somewhat by belief export business will improve, light hedging pressure and a private forecast placing the Canadian crop at 314,000,000 bushels compared with 516,000,000 a year ago. | | | |

Killer Whales' Frolic Fright for Fishermen

Two Victoria fishermen told today how for five nerve-racking minutes they were menaced by a school of man-eating killer whales.

Frank Porter, 2338 Heron, and John Blackey, Fair Street, were fishing off Sooke last Saturday in a 15-foot outboard motor canoe.

Suddenly the school of about 20 whales, each weighing about five tons, appeared around their boat.

"I never met with such a hair-raising experience," said Mr. Porter.

"The whales were all around and under us—we pulled out of the school just in time."

The harrowing adventure began when Mr. Blackey got a strike and began to reel his salmon in. The fish was about five feet from the canoe when someone in a fishing boat nearby yelled, "pull your line in quickly!"

As Mr. Blackey jerked his line, he saw the fin of a 20-foot whale about five feet away from the boat. The canoe rose out of the water but came down on an even keel.

Meanwhile, Mr. Porter, who was reeling his line, saw a killer whale take his salmon, line and sinker about 15 feet away from the canoe.

SURROUNDED

"We suddenly realized that we were surrounded by killers," he said. "The boat heaved a few times and some of the whales passed underneath."

"Then they started to circle as if they were about to make a general attack," he added. "We raced out of the danger area."

Charlie Guiget, museum biologist, said killer whales have been known to attack boats and kill men when irritated.

Smaller Classes Ruled Out

B.C. Short 200 Teachers Minister Tells P-T Group

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said today it will be impossible to have smaller classes in B.C. schools this fall.

The request was made in a brief presented to the cabinet by the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation.

Before the three-member PTA delegation met the cabinet, Mr. Peterson said in an interview it is expected there will be a shortage of at least 200 teachers when school opens next month.

The shortage will be most acute in rural areas, Mr. Peterson said.

HARM RURAL AREAS

Any attempt to reduce the size of classes would benefit the populated Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island district at the expense of up-country areas, the minister said.

The PTA delegation, headed by president Mrs. Walter V. McDonald, also asked for an end to the one-year emergency teacher training program.

Other requests: modification of the three-mile limit for transportation cost sharing where individual school boards can prove special hazard; increase in provincial grants on a basis of one teacher to 30 pupils instead of one to 35 as at present; and official releases on government education policy.

The proposals were approved by the Federation's Easter convention.

Record Crowds For Labor Day

Travel services, hotel and motel associations in Victoria area expect a record movement of holidaymakers over the Labor Day weekend, Aug. 31 to Sept. 2.

With the holiday still two weeks away, reservation lists are crammed.

Officials say the fact the holiday comes earlier than usual this year, and Victoria appears to be having a "late-breaking" summer, will strain travel and guest facilities.

The holiday is observed on the same date in the United States, which is expected to bring waves of tourists to Victoria.

CPR B.C. Coast Steamship Service says a rush for reservations for cars and cabins to Vancouver Friday Aug. 30, is already well under way.

"We are booking up rapidly,"

EXTRA TRIP

The company announced Thursday, its Princess of Nanaimo will make an extra return trip between Nanaimo and Vancouver Sept. 2 to ease heavy passenger traffic.

Trans-Canada Air Lines reports that seven extra flights have been set for the Friday and Monday and already they are almost completely booked.

"If the demand continues, more flights may be arranged, depending on whether planes are available."

Flights are set hourly until 5 p.m., when they will be scheduled every half-hour to Vancouver, until 10 p.m.

MORE BUSES

Vancouver Coach Lines, which provides bus service to Vancouver via Nanaimo, anticipates second sections on all regular

First Contact In 3 Weeks In Milk Fight

First contact in three weeks was to be made this afternoon between union officials and the representatives of four milk distributors in the city.

The two sides—deadlocked in a wage and delivery schedule dispute—have not met since the vote of 165 milk salesmen and plant employees favoring a strike.

Only exploratory talks were to be held at the meeting. No commitments on either side were expected.

Tonight at 7.30, policy committee of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union, will meet in the Labor Hall to discuss the afternoon session.

$30-$32 BOOSTS

The milkmen are asking wage increases of $30 and $32 a month to narrow the differential between drivers and plant employees, at present $270 and $262.50 a month, respectively.

The union also demands continuation of a six-day weekly delivery, as recommended by a conciliation board. The dairies rejected the delivery schedule and proposed a five-day weekly schedule, skipping Wednesday and Sunday.

Dairies involved, which supply 90 percent of the city's milk, are: Palm Dairies Ltd., Shepherd's Dairy Ltd., Island Farms Co-operative Association and Northwestern Creamery Ltd.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—It sticks in my mind that John Cabot got a rather interesting reward for finding North America. Is this true? F.K.

A. Cabot received 10 pounds and the rank of admiral from King Henry VII. The land he discovered was probably Cape Breton Island and the nearby island, "New Found Land." This was June 24, 1497.

Q. What was the first metal worked by man?

A. Copper. It was used as early as 5,000 years B.C. for tools and implements, probably because it can be beaten into shape even when cold. The metal was named from the island of Cyprus, where the Romans obtained their supply. Indians here made copper beads and tools long before the white man came.

MONTE ROBERTS

Our Mr. Hutchison has been talking of snobs lately. He lists a few snobs as nominated by Hugh Garner, and he adds a few of his own.

But neither our Mr. Hutchison nor Mr. Garner mentioned the type of snob who annoys me most.

This is the snob who uses a four-dollar word where a fifty-center would do equally well.

Or better.

And I believe I have detected a flagrant case of four-dollar word snobbery in an illuminated invitation being sent out by the centennial committee.

The invitation promises, in part, "Great Historic Scenes reinvoked before you."

Reinvoked.

Now, there is, indeed, a classic example of four-buck snobbery.

And what is worse, reinvoked, while it has the appearance of a four-dollar word, isn't.

In fact, it isn't a word at all. Or if it is, neither the Oxford English Dictionary nor Webster's has ever heard of it.

And, if it is accepted as a "made-up" word, reinvoked is still incorrect as used in the invitation.

Invoke means (and I quote Oxford): "To call on (God, a deity, etc.) in prayer or as a witness; to appeal to for aid or protection; to summon or invite in prayer. 2. To summon (a spirit) by charms or invocation; to conjure. b. To utter (a sacred name) in invocation. 3. To make supplication for, to implore. 4. Admiralty prize procedure. To call in evidence from a parallel case, or from the papers of a sister ship of the same owners."

I note in passing that this splendid invitation is signed by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

I can only assume they signed without reading.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Kinver Beach, closed to the general public because of the danger of pollution, was reopened Thursday by Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele and G. K. Sammon, chairman of Esquimalt's Health Board.

Esquimalt spent $7,000 to eliminate the Kinver sept tank in order to provide a safe swimming area for children.

Weekly talent parade at Beaver Lake Showboat features six contestants tonight at 7.30 p.m. They are Betty Warren, 13; Jo Humber, 16; Ken Ryall, 16; Margaret Lowman, 15, and Melvin Shanks, 17. Specialties include clarinet and accordion solos, vocals and dancing. Judges are Robin Stewart, Dave Townsend and Reg Wood. Contest finals take place at the lake on Labor Day.

Provincial government offices will be closed Monday, Sept. 2, for the Labor Day holiday. The museum will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Tonight at 8 p.m. the S. J. Willis High School band will be featured in Beacon Hill Park concert sponsored by the Victoria Film Council.

The band will be conducted by C. H. Denike.

A film on the Edinburgh festival will be shown.

Donald Edward Broadworth, 1536 Vining, and Sander Jones, 933 Ellery, each were fined $35 in city police court today for careless driving.

Improvements At Airport In Estimates

Federal expenditure for a new terminal building at Patricia Bay airport has been included in transport department estimates.

Provision for extension of runways will also be included, depending on studies now underway by engineers.

The government action was outlined to the Times by a reliable source.

But it was pointed out money in the estimates must be approved in a treasury board review in late autumn before cabinet consideration is certain.

No amounts were stated. Transport Minister George Hees and his deputy minister John Baldwin acknowledged the need for the new building when they visited here recently.

Times Ottawa correspondent William Mackie says no report has yet been made to the minister by engineers now surveying the possible extension of runways.

A river of ginger ale flowed down Government Street this morning after a crate of bottles fell from a delivery truck outside Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Traffic was interrupted while the truck driver and his assistant cleaned up a pile of broken glass from the centre of the road.

The truck then went on its way minus 24 bottles of Canada Dry.

City Hall officials will warn Victoria transport firms that moving men may not connect and disconnect electric ranges in future.

Teamster Union officials asked enforcement of building code regulations which call for such wiring to be done by qualified electricians and inspected by city officials.

It cost Douglas Mann, 2818 Heath, a total $25 in fines in city police court today to double park his car at a bus zone with the engine running.

He told the court he had just stopped for a moment while he ducked into a newsstand on Yates near Douglas.

Police charged Mann with all three offences, and Magistrate A. J. Thomas fined him $10 for leaving his car unattended with the engine running, $10 for parking in a bus zone and $5 for double parking.

Lawyers David Sloan and Donald Anderson have accepted positions on the adult advisory board to Victoria's National Youth Club, organizer Con Watling announced Thursday.

No definite replies have been received from other adults asked to serve on the board—school board chairman W. H. Golby, former mayor Percy George, Christ Church Cathedral's Dean Brian Whitlow and S. J. Willis Junior High School principal, B. C. Gillie.

Unions Hail CLC Hookup By Trainmen

Victoria union men today hailed the decision of Canada's largest independent union to join the Canadian Labor Congress.

The 25,000-strong Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen announced Thursday it has completed arrangements to affiliate with CLC Sept. 1.

"We are very happy to hear the news," one Victoria labor official commented.

"The progress of labor in Canada is always good news to those of us that try to assist each other."

INCREASE

The growing railway wing of the Victoria Labor Council may increase in size as a result of the BRT decision.

Newest affiliate to the council is Lodge 690 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen which joined only last month.

BRT's Lodge 613 here "quite possibly" will follow suit with its 70 members sometime in the future, agent Hugh Douglas said.

Oak Bay Girl Tops Job Essay Contest

Blue-eyed Anne Hassen, a 16-year-old student at Oak Bay Senior High School, learned today she has won the top prize of $250 in the Vancouver Board of Trade annual job study essay.

Anne's essay, a 50-page illustrated effort entitled "The Marine Biologist," was picked from more than 20,000 essays submitted by junior and senior high school students all over the province.

It took her four months to write and was the result of nearly two years' leisure-time study of marine biology along the North Pacific coast.

Anne received the glad news from her father, R. F. Hassen.

GAY FLOTILLA PARADES FOR SOLARIUM

Members of the Capital City Yacht Club will make this possible.

First of all, there'll be a grand "water parade" around Mill Bay, which fronts the solarium, of 30 gaily decorated boats in charge of fleet captain, Don Jamieson. The bay will be circled once before the gay flotilla anchors and "visitors go ashore to meet the youngsters."

Visitors each will have their own designated youngster to greet, and will bring gifts. After the 40 kiddies and all their friends will enjoy a leisurely mixed visit.

Norman Hill, past commodore of the club, is chairman of the event which was held in years past, dropped, and started again this year.

The get-together is scheduled for mid-afternoon.

Lost footing. Jellinek said Dr. Hewlett had been climbing ahead of him when "he apparently lost his footing."

"I saw him fall vertically for an endless moment, then he rolled into a crevasse among some huge rocks."

Jellinek returned to Mineral King Mine where the two had been staying. Although exhausted, he set out with a search party Wednesday night. The body was found late Thursday.

Pack horses brought the body down five miles to a road.

City Man Killed In Fall Off Peak

The body of a 31-year-old Victoria geologist, killed in a fall on a B.C. Interior mountain peak, will be returned here for burial.

Funeral service for Dr. Cecil George Hewlett, 1879 Kings Road, will be held early next week.

A team of pack horses this morning brought the body down from Monument Peak, near Invermere.

Dr. Hewlett plunged 2,000 feet from the 10,000-foot peak of the mountain Wednesday.

He was on a mapping survey for the provincial mines department with Arthur Jellinek, 25, an undergraduate at the University of Toronto.

It took RCMP, Forest Service employees, and volunteers, more than 24 hours to bring out the body.

Monument Peak, in the Purcell mountains, 35 miles west of Invermere. The terrain made the search extremely hazardous.

"I shan't spend it," she said emphatically. "I shall put it in the bank and save it for when I go to university."

What university? The University of British Columbia, of course. But before then Anne hopes to put in some serious study at Victoria College.

She hasn't yet decided on a career but may follow her bent and become a biologist.

She will receive her $250 prize from Education Minister Leslie Peterson at the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver, next Thursday at 8 p.m.

The second prize of $150 will be won by Margaret O'Hara of Vernon High School for her essay "Pharmacists Help Promote B.C.'s Public Health."

The third award of $100 goes to Elizabeth Tarlton of Cowichan High School for her essay on B.C. Fisheries.

Courtenay Girl Wins CNE Award

A 22-year-old Courtenay girl, Joanna Hamilton Ross, has been named British Columbia winner of a Canadian National Exhibition $600 agriculture scholarship.

Miss Ross has been a 4-H Club member for seven years and is the leader of the Comox Valley Dairy Club.

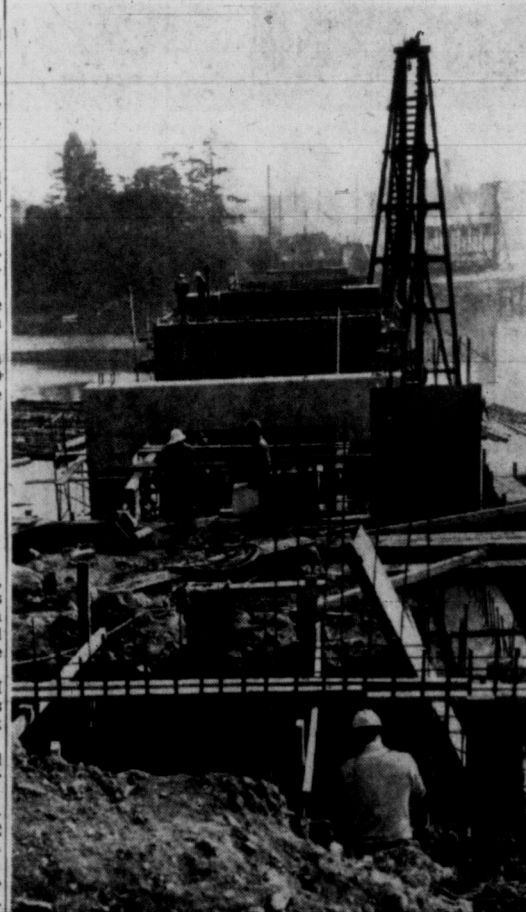

She was born in England and moved to Courtenay with her family in 1948.

With other provincial winners, she will attend the CNE in Toronto early in Sept. to receive the scholarship.

Miss Ross intends to use her scholarship to attend the University of B.C. for one year, and then continue studies in agriculture.

At present she is a secretarial worker at the Nanaimo Free Press office at Courtenay, living on her parents' farm.

She has won many prizes with her Ayrshire calves and cows. She attended Tsolum High School and Youth Training School in 1953.

BRIDGE STEEL DUE MONDAY

Workmen are rushing extension of piers at Point Ellice Bridge today. First of steel is due to arrive Monday. Dominion Bridge Company pre-fabricated sections will be installed first at west end of the span, probably late in the week. City hopes for completion in early November. Next civic project will be new main fire hall. (Times Photo.)

Colorful Tray of Fruit Makes Housewife Artist

By PENNY SAVER

A housewife with artistic leanings can certainly express them these summer days. She can create a real work of art with a colorful fruit platter, with peach halves filled with blueberries, pear halves, pink and yellow and green melon slices and so on.

Okanagan fruit is on the market for this weekend. I noticed big peaches, perfect for a fruit platter or in a lunch box, at 25 cents for five. Or you can buy a case of them to get started at canning for $2.49.

Bartlett pears are coming down in price as supplies increase, and you'll find you can buy five of them for 25 cents. They make a delicious salad combined with cottage cheese and topped with a few chopped walnuts.

Local strawberries are long since finished, but if you'd like a few to add color to your fruit platter, there are California imports at 39 cents a hallock.

There are plenty of blackberries, selling at 35 cents for two hallocks, and blueberries are 35 cents for one hallock.

I noticed greengage plums, nice for jelly and jam, on the fruit stands today. They're 25 cents for two pounds. Prune plums from California are in good supply, at 39 cents for two pounds. Local Bradshaws are 25 cents for three pounds.

Apricots are dwindling rapidly — prices are going up and you'll find them at 33 cents for two pounds this weekend.

Apples are still in short supply. There are some local ones on the market—they looked like transparents to me—selling at 25 cents for three pounds.

Half a grapefruit, sprinkled with sugar and centred with a cherry, makes a perfect start to a warm-weather meal, instead of hot soup. You can buy five grapefruit for just 29 cents.

There's plenty of locally-grown corn on the weekend market, and it's getting cheaper. Noticed it at 45 cents for half a dozen cobs.

Red cabbage adds a note of color, as well as delicious crunchiness, to a salad. It's selling at two pounds for 31 cents.

"One thing no one can say our standard of existing isn't improving!"

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Should Brush Hair, Use Tonics for an Oily Scalp

Q.—I don't see why I should brush my hair. It is very oily and brushing just makes it oilier."

A.—It is true that brushing makes the hair oilier because it distributes the oil from the scalp over the hair. However, the important thing is to remedy the abnormal condition. The reason your scalp is oily is because the little oil glands are too relaxed and pour out more oil than normal. The stimulation brushing provides is helpful in overcoming this condition. There also are splendid tonics for oily scalps on the market.

Q.—"When a girl has dark brown hair and black lashes and brows what color eyebrow pencil and mascara should she use?"

Burns' Club Garden Party

The annual garden party and tea of the Burns Club will be held this Saturday from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at "Glencraig," the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Cooper, 1988 Ferndale Road, Gordon Head. The party will be officially opened at 2:45 p.m. by Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wife of the Premier of British Columbia.

Entertainment will include Highland dancing by pupils of Mrs. Adeline Duncan and piping selections by Piper John Low. General convener is Mrs. Angus McKay.

There will be an apron stall in charge of Mrs. John Mackay and a white elephant stall convener by Mrs. E. Mayell. There will also be gate prizes.

Members of kindred societies and Scottish visitors in the city may attend. The Gordon Head bus leaves the depot at 2:15 p.m. and passes the door.

MARRIAGE FORETOLD

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Roberts, 232 Cross Street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Teresa Mary, to Rafael Melendez Duke, son of Rafael Melendez, San Salvador, Republic of El Salvador, and the late Mrs. Noemi Duke. The wedding will take place Aug. 24 at 10 a.m. in St. Andrew's Cathedral. Celebrant will be Rev. Father Raymond Cunningham.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

GIRL USHERS AT WEDDING? A grandmother in my early fifties, I am to be married at an informal church wedding. My daughter and my fiancé's son will be our ushers. Is it proper to have my brother walk down the aisle with me and give me away? My two sons will usher. Should they be dressed alike? What would you think of having my nieces as ushers, and, if so, should they be dressed alike? LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

It would be proper to have your brother walk down the aisle with you, but, since you are not only a mother but a grandmother, he shouldn't need "to give the bride away." Had you thought of just coming in from the side instead of marching down the aisle? In that case, you could go alone, as the distance would be short. I think that this would be the better plan. Then after the service you and your bridegroom can march the entire aisle recessional together. Your sons wouldn't have to be dressed alike, since yours will be an informal wedding. They can wear conservative business suits. Your idea of having girl ushers is novel and interesting, but I think a little too radical. How about asking these nieces to assist as hostesses at the informal reception afterwards if you are having one? They wouldn't have to be dressed alike, but it would be nice to have them wear small shoulder corsages to single them out as hostesses.

Social Evening

Miss Joan Lailey, who will be married Sept. 7, was guest of honor at a social evening at the home of Mrs. B. Hooper. She was presented with a pair of engraved silver candlesticks and a corsage of pink roses. Guests, members of the Victoria Stagette Club, included Mrs. S. Arndt, Mrs. M. Ball, Mrs. M. Hudson, Misses Margaret Rich of Kelowna, Maymie Fisher, Pearl Foubister, Lois Mar, Dorothy Ochs, Isabella Shillabeer and Evelyn Young.

The very feminine woman might like the Parisian-styled stole this summer. It's short and wide, comes in pale yellow organza edged with white guipure lace and has two yellow roses to tuck into the décolleté.

In Honor of the Bride

An August bride-elect, Miss Shirley Ann Turner, was honored at a recent shower given by Mrs. John Stavrakov and Miss Dayle Heal at the home of the latter. A corsage of yellow roses and white heather was presented to the guest of honor while her mother, Mrs. H. Turner, and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. S. Heal, received pink and red gladioli. Gifts were placed in a wishing well and handed to the bride-to-be by Miss Karen Harvey. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table centered with a silver bowl of pink snapdragons and white chrysanthemums. Miss D. Kerr poured. Other guests were Mrs. A. Green, Mrs. H. J. Heal, Mrs. L. Godfrey, Mrs. H. Harvey, Mrs. W. Unwin, Mrs. R. Straith, Mrs. H. Wilkinson, Mrs. E. S. Cross, Mrs. C. Tubbs, Mrs. D. Zeits, Mrs. P. Thow and Misses E. West, K. Stobart, L. McDonald and M. Basset.

A linen and personal shower to honor Miss Barbara Campbell was given by Mrs. W. H. Martindale, Mrs. L. DeKever and Mrs. W. J. Main at the home of Mrs. Main on Hawkes Road. Gifts were arranged in a miniature tent, and corsages were presented to the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. F. Campbell, and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. E. Marks. Guests included Mrs. T. Todd, Mrs. E. Mawie, Mrs. A. Bewley, Mrs. J.

Novelist Mary Lincham MacKinnon, considers herself "hardest working soul in America."

Seeks Isolation to Write Novel

By ANNE MAYHEW

A novel is taking form this very moment in a small room of the Dominion Hotel. The silver-haired authoress is Mary Lincham MacKinnon who declares vehemently "I'm going to write 10 pages a day or else!"

"Wings for Angels," the book Mrs. MacKinnon is working on now, is by no means her first piece of writing. As she says, "I've always kept voluminous diaries, and must be the lengthiest letter-writer in America!"

Her first book to be published, "One Small Candle," deals with the emotions of a young Irish immigrant girl in Civil War America. It will soon be on Public Library shelves and in Victoria book stores.

"The Black Racer," Mrs. MacKinnon wrote for children, and "Once Wedded Fast," another novel, is doing the rounds now in New York.

"This writer has done a bit of everything, from farming to teaching. After receiving a Ph.D. in English literature, she married Donald MacKinnon, a fellow teacher at the University of Maine. They brought up their two daughters in Pennsylvania, and are living now in Berkeley, Calif.

Mrs. MacKinnon, or to be correct, Dr. MacKinnon, explains why she came to Victoria.

"My eldest daughter was married last month," she said, "and I was afraid August was going to vanish down the drain before I could get started on my novel."

"So I bought a plane ticket, flew here in a matter of hours, and left my large disorganized family behind!"

She finds her solitude in the Victoria Public Library, where she spent every day last week, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"I was so frustrated this Wednesday when I found it closed," Mrs. MacKinnon laughed, "but then I discovered I could work just as well in my hotel room."

"It's rather strange to be alone," she says, "you know, I'm really very gregarious."

Mrs. MacKinnon writes in longhand, although she can type, for she learned "to formulate thoughts with a pencil."

As she teaches during the school year, she can squeeze in only a little writing then. She is trying to get the first 100 pages of her novel finished during the summer, for after that, "the characters simply take over. There becomes only one thing they can do or say in a situation."

A strong belief of Mrs. MacKinnon is that "no one will ever be a writer unless he's a reader."

In conclusion, this author said, "As a girl I always thought I'd write my novel. Now, I think I'll write many."

GOULD-BAXTER MARRIAGE

Couple Exchange Wedding Vows, Rings At Ceremony in Metropolitan Church

Wedding rings and vows were exchanged last evening in Metropolitan United Church by Marilyn Irene Baxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baxter, 851 Shamrock Street, and Robert Lyall Gould, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Gould, Toronto. Dr. F. E. H. James performed the ceremony in a setting of white and pink gladioli. Traditional organ music was played.

Coming up the aisle on her father's arm, the bride was a charming picture in her ballerina-length gown. Lace forming the bodice extended to a low er waistline over the skirt of misty nylon net, and the matching lace jacket featured stand-up collar and lilypoint sleeves. A pearl tiara held her fingertip veil of embroidered net, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white carnations and heather.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Doris Baxter, and cousin, Miss Bonnie Baxter. The former was in a ballerina-length gown of pink chiffon with pink pearl headress and colonial bouquet of yellow gladioli, while the latter wore pale blue nylon net and blue pearl headress. She had a colonial bouquet of pink gladioli.

Best man was Brian Tucker, Kelowna, and guests were ushered to pews marked with small colonial bouquets of godetia and heather by Peter Bickell and John Harte.

A reception followed at Club Tango. Summer flowers decorated the room, and the three-tier wedding cake topped with a bride and groom ornament was encircled with white tulle. A. Rochon proposed the bridal toast. The bride's mother wore a turquoise dress with white accessories and corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon up Island, after which they will go to Dartmouth, N.S., to live, visiting the groom's parents in Toronto en route. The bride traveled in a blue-grey suit with white accessories and corsage of red roses and white carnations.

British Columbia Building A 'Must' in Tour of PNE

By ELIZABETH FORBES

If you are planning to "take in" the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver, any time between August 21 and Sept. 2 then be sure and see the British Columbia Building. It alone will be worth the price of admission to the fair. You'll leave its wide doorway simply bursting with pride in the province in which we live, or I'll miss my guess.

I'm a little ashamed to have to tell you that I saw the B.C. Building for the first time (it's been there for three years) one night this week when a group of press and radio women were taken on a conducted tour of the place by members of the PNE board of directors.

The tour was all too short so I've made a vow. I'm going back.

I'm going back again and again until I've seen and can remember all the wonders that I only had time to glimpse.

It's going to be easy for I've discovered that throughout the year, except during the two weeks of the exhibition, this building is open to the public without charge from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, including Sundays.

Built of reinforced concrete and native British Columbia woods, in modern design the building contains over 32,970 square feet of exhibit space, exclusive of aisles, foyers and ramps between the three levels.

Focal point of interest in the building is the giant relief map of British Columbia, constructed to scale from official government surveys. It takes in all of B.C. and parts of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Alberta, Yukon Territory, Alaska and the Northwest Territories.

Cities, towns, lakes, rivers, highways and railways, can all be clearly identified.

Across Province on Electric Platform

This great map, believed to be the largest of its kind in the world, was built by George P. Challenger and his son Robert. They took seven years to complete it and, in the undertaking they used 968,428 pieces of plywood, individually art colored and assembled.

The map can easily be seen from two levels of spectator galleries, or from a special overhead electrically controlled platform, which spans it from east to west and travels in a north to south plane.

We took the tour over our province aboard this moveable platform the other night (you can do it too, if you wish) while our genial guide wielded a long pointer to keep us alert to the various highlights.

Other sections of the B.C. Building contain outstanding and informative exhibits of every kind that portray vividly all phases of B.C.'s resources and its geographical, historical and economic life.

The provincial government has furnished displays that tell the story of the functions of all its departments in every phase of the province's economic and social advancement. Colorful up-to-the-minute demonstrations have also been set up by industrial associations, public utilities and others to illustrate their achievements and their faith in B.C.'s boundless future. There's the fabulous Edward and Mary Lipsett Museum, too, that includes priceless slate totems and other fine examples of B.C. Indian culture and also the Hager collection of big game trophies.

The other night when I walked along the wide aisles and stood in the spacious foyers I had a feeling that I was learning so many things . . . painlessly and easily and under the most enjoyable conditions.

I said this to one of our guides and he told me that the whole building is based on just such a premise.

Authorities, he said, regard it as one of the finest examples of visual education on the entire continent.

Dinner Party

Dr. Carl Mueller, well-known composer of sacred music, and Mrs. Mueller, of New Jersey, were guests of honor of the Canadian College of Organists, Victoria branch, at a recent dinner party held at the Butchart Gardens. Guests attending were Miss A. Van der Voort, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ingram Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Edwards, Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Roxburgh, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Warren, Mr. D. Boyce Gaddes and Mrs. R. Yerburgh.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST
SATURDAY, AUGUST 17, 1957
ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—This is one of those Saturdays when you can start in the early morning putting pantry in order, shifting furniture around, washing pails, giving plants a scolding as you pull out weeds, etc., and still be raring to go in p.m.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Now is the time to primp, bathe at leisure, exercise, etc., and bring your hair and complexion to the acme of satisfaction. You can be the shining light among bosom pals—have a whole of a time, Taurus.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Don't step out of the house today, busy self with many repairs and changes that need attention right now. Yours is the sign that combines rare physical and mental capabilities almost equally balanced. Work, work.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22)—Get out of that lackadaisical attitude today and jump in the car, see your friends, others and pick up your scattered forces. Life is beautiful if you make it so. Forget the dreary past. The future is here now.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21)—Difficult as it is for you to think along the small everyday lines, it is a bit necessary today for practical purposes. This will lead to the things you truly want quickly, and you will meet your type of persons, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Shut out all others today from your thoughts and concentrate on self. Imperative you need definitely what you seek, then run after it. Let nothing stop you, the planets are wise—follow them. Come to life.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Your sense of perfection in all things is really fine, once you get in the groove. So, now is the time to easily give it expression with everyone, in all your work, talents. P.M. do good to other people—get appreciation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—The chance to be in company of highly evolved and successful persons today indirectly gives you knowledge of how to do your own job better. Be grateful to them in some other fashion and show it. Tonight, have fun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Week has been so full you have been unable to attend to mundane, civic matters, and also pay off bills, collect money owed you. Saturday is a good day to look into these things. Get them done NOW. Be down-to-earth, though.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—That little excursion is possible over the weekend, be it for romantic or business purposes. Also, correspondence can be caught up with, and papers read thoroughly, but make it a worthwhile period—accomplishment possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A fine day for sitting at your desk and writing cheques, going over accounts or domestic help problems thoroughly, looking into your tax records, your special ledger sheets, budget, etc. Put everything in order and then relax and be happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Talking at length with associates and all other vital persons in your life may seem like wasted effort at first, but the understanding and meeting of minds that results will be phenomenal. Be public-spirited, too.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY
The fine child born Saturday will fortunately be the kind who early knows how to be a financial builder, for he or she quickly learns that five pennies make a nickel, two nickels a dime and on up to a practical and great abundance in adult life. But see that the spiritual education is not neglected, too, for the best kind of existence possible to your progeny. Good horoscope for business, finance, movie industry, etc.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 18, 1957
ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—You are distraught by some money worry today. Dispel gloom by quiet prayer and turn thoughts to getting clothing repaired, appearance improved, and fine ideas come through for solving problems and gaining abundance.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—There is a fixed situation at home that does not meet with your approval one whit. Don't wear yourself out arguing any longer, but show affection to misguided one and your willingness to help with the problem.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Since you have much important studying, concentrating to do today, it is wisest to forget the insidious condition altogether that has you boiling hot or you fail in your work and ruin your life. P.M. relax.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22)—Do not give up that precious idea, plan of yours simply because the financial end of it is still not in sight, and the backers you see throw cold water on it. P.M. keep busy making surroundings prettier, more comfortable.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21)—Today your mettle will be tested by someone in high authority when he or she becomes angry and shouts at you. Rise above this in high intellectual fashion. Then you will see that you get anything you want commensurate with kindness.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Since your anxieties are placed in first position, the fine advice given you by kind friend helps you not at all. Review it in solitude, later and follow it. P.M. go to some lovely place and be happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—The contents of your pocketbook and magnitude of ambitions do not balance well, but be patient awhile. Work diligently at regular occupation and build up reserve needed for starter. Tonight, good for romance, learning.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Arguments with associate for getting needed bank loan, making plans for expansion successful in early part of day. Use tact and show your wise personal budgeting—this will convince. Tonight, entertain partner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—All those chores, problems that seem to have you hemmed in should be left behind today, and you must lose self in great conceptions, ideas that are uplifting. Daily routine monotony has you tired out—restore yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—The early part of the day a truly big problem has you very worried inwardly, but don't inflict it on others; be a good pretender and help self and others. Something good will result and problem becomes smaller.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Situation at the house becomes almost intolerable only because of meddlesome outsiders. Listen courteously, agree with everyone and problem vanishes. Tonight, get ideas worked out for next seven days.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—The only way to get rid of your particular anxiety is to study carefully all details thereof—drop everything else. It isn't as bad as you think. Tonight, run out and visit, see a show, have fun and get some popcorn.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY
The child born Sunday is one of those little rascals who will require much rest and a pretty environment or become quite a temperamental handful. Later, your progeny will get some fixed ideas as to future. These may be about making a million dollars singing or acting, might as well go along with those ideas, for chances are he or she will do just that. Don't be afraid to take a chance.

New Track Oval Gets Go-Ahead

One-third of centennial project grants and one-half of the celebration grants totalling $542,893 have been approved by the B.C./Centennial Committee, it was announced today.

NUDISTS' 'OPEN' HOUSE SATURDAY

Victoria nudists will not permit minors to attend their "open" house at Shawigan Lake Saturday unless they are accompanied by their parents.

W. J. Hannam, 22 Midwood, president of the Sol Sante Club, said this applied to anyone under 21 years of age.

The reception, which starts at 6 p.m., is open to the general public. It will feature a bonfire, wiener roast and a sing-song.

It's the first time the nudist organization has invited the general public to inspect their grounds.

Comox Valley Water Board 'Practical'

COURTENAY—A water board embracing the entire Comox Valley district is practical, provincial government officials assured a meeting of five organized water districts here.

As a result of the gathering, chaired by Comox M.L.A. Dan Campbell, plans were made but held in abeyance pending results of a government survey now under way.

Attending were Mayor Geoff Browning and city clerk Harry Simms, Courtenay; Mayor William Henderson and Ald. John Buchanan, Cumberland; P. H. Lloyd and J. McPhee from Arden Road; Comox Commissioner Douglas Newson and J. Richardson, chairman of the Royston Improvement District.

Three experts from the water rights branch answered questions. These were A. K. Sutherland, solicitor; V. Raudebaugh, deputy controller, and G. Leslie, engineer.

Another meeting will be called as soon as the survey is completed.

COURTENAY—Rev. Eric Oswald Robathan, 67, Pendleton, Ore., was given a 12-month suspended sentence in police court here Thursday after conviction of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

He appeared before Magistrate John Ryland in an in-camera session.

Several juveniles were involved.

Duncan to Vote September 5 On Indian Land

DUNCAN—A vote by Duncan property owners will be held Sept. 5 to seek permission to include 200 acres of Indian reserve land in city boundaries.

The Cowichan Indian band has voted its consent and the move has already been approved by the Indian affairs branch.

A three-fifths majority vote is necessary.

Rescued Man Identified After Boat Wreck

CAMPBELL RIVER—A man rescued from a gillnetter Tuesday seconds before it burned and sank has been identified as John L. Perry.

He was taken from the sinking boat, the Rapatani, Tuesday by the crew of the Sharon Lee II.

Mill Office Workers Leaving Chemainus

CHEMAINUS—Two members of the office staff of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus Division, are leaving the company this month.

Roy Day, personnel superintendent, has accepted a position with Mannix and Co. of Calgary. Bob Rutherford, safety supervisor, has also resigned his position. He will move to Vancouver.

CHEMAINUS—The Chemainus Credit Union is planning to combine an outing on Salt Spring Island with a chapter meeting in Ganong on Sunday, Aug. 25.

CANADIAN YOUNGSTERS, sons of RCAF personnel serving in France, have been walking away in a baseball league in which three U.S. teams provide the opposition. Brian Campbell, centre, son of Cpl. L. F. Campbell, Courtenay, is the league's leading pitcher. Rick Vandecasteyen, right, son of Cpl. Leo Vandecasteyen, Ladysmith, won a no-hitter in the team's opener. John Cassidy of Hamilton, Ont., shows winning wind-up to coach WO Bill Ward, also of Hamilton. Team is "RCAF Tigers." (National Defence Photo.)

TALLY-HO!

Foxes Menace Game; Poison Plan Delayed

NANAIMO—Foxes are becoming a menace to small game on Vancouver Island.

This was revealed at a convention here of the Vancouver Island Affiliated Fish and Game Clubs, chaired by Louis Langlois, Duncan.

He said foxes roamed the central portion of the island from Oyster River to Cumberland and Courtenay.

Members suggested organized hunts for the silver foxes, descendants of those which escaped from fur farms years ago.

Provincial game department biologist Don Robinson said his department would take control measures next year.

This year's poisoning program could not be carried out, he said, because of delay in getting permission from property owners.

STILL PROBLEM

Lumber operators' objections to public access are still proving a problem for club members.

Some logging areas are open to members of affiliated clubs on Vancouver Island, but others have not decided the access question.

BOSS RELENTS: DOGS, CATS STAY

Dark Days Flick Bright For Pet-Loving Immigrants

Life in Canada, which began darkly 10 days ago for an English couple, today took a sunny turn.

They can keep their pets. Mr. and Mrs. L. Hogg arrived with their two dogs and two cats Aug. 6 to work at a Duncan farm.

They were shattered to learn from their "flabbergasted" employer that they or the pets would have to go. A mix-up in arrangements had left the employer unaware of the pets.

"The immigration people in London told us we could bring our pets if it was all right with our employers," Mrs. Hogg said.

"Since they arranged for our employment we left everything up to them and they said it would be all right to bring our pets before we left."

"We can stay and keep our pets so long as they are under control," Mrs. Hogg reported. "Everything's all right now and we are very happy."

'Village' Status Considered

LADYSMITH—Council here is expected to discuss possibility of changing the present status of Ladysmith from "city" to "village" to make savings under the new Municipal Act.

Mayor Len Ryan said savings totalling about $8,000 a year could be made as villages are not required to provide police protection or social assistance.

If Ladysmith were to become a village, it would be governed by a commission comprised of a chairman and four commissioners.

Meanwhile in Cumberland, voters decide on the same question next Thursday. A 60 per cent majority is required before the change can be made.

Miss Campbell River Gets Crown Saturday

CAMPBELL RIVER—Highlight of the Canadian Legion fishing derby underway here today through Sunday will be the crowning of Miss Campbell River at a dance in the community hall Saturday night.

First prize in the derby is $50, while second and third prize winners will receive $25 and $15, plus trophies.

RESERVE

Delegates approved a Victoria resolution that a provincial government reserve be placed on remaining Crown lands at Forbidden Plateau near Courtenay.

The resolution pointed out that the plateau is the only sub-alpine area on the island and that private individuals are rapidly acquiring land there.

It was felt that access for the general public could only be assured by placing a reserve on the land.

BALL PARK WORK BEE

CROFTON—There will be a work "bee" this Sunday at the baseball park being constructed as this community's centennial project.

Arrangements have been made to have several bulldozers on the grounds and all residents interested are invited to turn out and help.

new Hinge-Lid Pack for Winchester

Convenient to use
Fits easily in pocket or purse
Made rigid to protect your cigarettes

The new Hinge-Lid Pack is a really modern cigarette pack—so convenient to use. You'll see how easily it fits into pocket or purse—how rigid it's made to protect your cigarettes... and remember, Winchester is now better tailored—a finer cigarette—with the same distinctive Winchester taste.

Newsman Describes Shock Of Freedom After Prison

By ENDE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP)—A year ago today I was told I was a free man.

I had spent 18 months in the Budapest prison of the Hungarian secret police, convicted of treason against the Communist regime of Matyas Rakosi.

I was a reporter for The Associated Press when Rakosi grabbed power from Imre Nagy, accused me of spying and ordered my arrest.

Aug. 16, 1956, started as every other day. Sitting alone in my small cell, completely isolated from the world, I did not know what was going on outside the thick walls of the prison. I had not heard that Rakosi, an old Stalinist and the man whose fate apparently determined mine, had been ousted a month earlier. I had no reason to hope.

DIDN'T BELIEVE IT
In mid-morning I was taken down to the push office of the secret police officer in charge of my case. The usual routine: Two jailers in their snappy grey-green uniforms flanking me on either side and holding my arms firmly.

But in the officer's room, it was different that day. Officials of the ministry of interior were waiting for me. They said I would be free later that afternoon. I didn't believe my ears, thought it was a trap. I asked them what they had in mind, what was the condition? They only smiled. "Just go out and see yourself. You will find quite a change, that will explain everything," they said.

I was taken back to my cell. The barber shaved me and I was given back my necktie, watch and all those little things that mean much only when one is deprived of them.

I had to wait till 2 p.m. These were the longest hours of my life. The secret police telephoned my wife—herself released only four months earlier. She thought it was an answer to an earlier petition in which she asked permission to visit me.

"Can I see my husband?" she asked. "Well, you may—but you better take him home," the jocular police major told her.

"I was solemnly given into the custody of my wife. High-ranking secret police officers had only one polite request. 'If you really see yourself the changes we talked about, write about them. Maybe the West will believe you.'"

The secret policemen were right. I was flabbergasted by the changes I found. Nagy was back in power. Hungary was seething in the fever of the pre-revolution atmosphere. The volcano could have erupted any day.

It was only a year ago. Everything that has happened since is like a kaleidoscope: The fantastic weeks of the revolution, the war on Budapest streets, the months of desperate passive resistance, then our departure, the first breath of the air of the free world on the Austrian border, and finally the United States.

RAILWAYS Asked To Boost City
Victoria Chamber of Commerce has asked the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways to advertise Victoria in connection with the arrival here next Jan. 18 of the S. Leilani en route to Honolulu.

"Our idea is that passengers from eastern Canada and the central provinces should spend two days in Victoria before boarding the ship," chamber manager Arnold Webb said.

"We should seize this opportunity of advertising Victoria as a port. This may well be the turning point."

TIGHTER CONTROL Of Tranquilizer Drugs Urged
MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's druggists called Thursday for more stringent control of new drugs such as tranquilizers, stimulants and sedatives now available to the public without a doctor's prescription.

The closing session of the 50th anniversary convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association was told many "dangerous or potentially dangerous" drugs were freely available in Canada.

The druggists recommended that a committee be set up to work with the department of national health and welfare on the job of putting all new products in definite categories and restricting the sale of those which might be dangerous or habit-forming.

Jean G. Richard of Montreal was elected president of the association.

Ald. Curtis Joins in Battle Against Fountain Circle Plan
Ald. Austin I. Curtis joined Ald. E. D. McEwen today in a continuing fight against the one-way traffic plan for the Fountain Circle despite the fact council has authorized the changeover.

In a letter to Mayor Percy Scurrah, Ald. Curtis recalled the engineer J. C. Garnett had prepared an alternative to the one-way plan.

If the J. D. Faustman one-way plan should not prove satisfactory, the alternative plan, which allows for two-way traffic, could be tried at a cost of $5,000.

Ald. Curtis maintained the engineer's plan should be tried before the Faustman plan. This could cancel the need to resurface Princess Street as required Wednesday.

CITY HOST TO CELEBRITIES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The Fort Knox of the U.S. entertainment world shifted temporarily to the Victoria area today.

Arthur Godfrey, man about radio and television, who is down to his last half-dozen planes (including a modest DC-3).

Phil Harris, who parlayed a Barleycorn (but undesired) reputation into a fair assortment of substantial assets, including Alice Faye.

Also, the respective business managers of Mr. Crosby and Mr. Harris, who are not doing too badly. And millionaire ex-fighter (world welterweight champ in the early '30s) Jimmy McLarnin, golfing pal of Bing and Phil.

How all these stalwart citizens happened to be here on the same day can be expressed in a phrase dear to the hearts of our Public Bureau: VANCOUVER ISLAND IS BEAUTIFUL.

Crosby and Harris are perennial Vancouver Island visitors. As Bing mentioned today, during a stroll up Government Street: "I feel comfortable here. Almost as if it were my home town."

As if to prove it, Victoria citizens who passed us as we walked along the street paid no attention to the slight, slouched figure of Bing Crosby, and nobody asked for his autograph. Nobody asked for my autograph, either, but two people said hello, and nobody said hello to Bing.

WENT OVER HIGH

The Arthur Godfrey story is a little different. This was his first visit to the Pacific Northwest—except, as he put it, "on the way to Alaska, and I was too damn high up to see how beautiful this country is."

Godfrey arrived at Sidney this morning aboard the chartered Seattle yacht Cadrew—in which Crosby visited Victoria two years ago.

Waiting for him at Patricia Bay airport was his private DC-3—a twin-engineered job at least large enough for Mr. Godfrey, whose hassles with the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Commission have made more headlines than private pilot Godfrey likes.

Aboard the Cadrew he expressed sincere regrets on leaving B.C. waters.

"We've been up to Princess Louise Inlet," he said. "It's the most beautiful country in the world—there couldn't be a prettier spot anywhere. There just couldn't be."

Today's meeting with this reporter's first with Mr. Godfrey, so the conversation opened with a fatuous question:

"What have you been doing? Fishing?"

"No," said Mr. Godfrey, gravely. "White slaving."

"Is that so?" he was asked.

"How's business?"

"Terrible," said Mr. Godfrey. The opinion was expressed that white slaving had always been a good, steady line of work, but Mr. Godfrey said times were changing, and a man could hardly make a dollar that way any more.

Mr. Godfrey then repeated his regrets at leaving B.C. so soon, but explained (modestly) that he was to be honored Monday as leading citizen of his home county, Loudon, West Virginia, on the occasion of its 150th anniversary.

In Victoria, encounters were made with Mr. Harris, Mr. Crosby and Mr. McLarnin.

Mr. Harris confined his remarks to stating he was headed to Strath's to look at tweeds and things, and expressed regret that he would soon have to return to work as a musician-turned-comedian.

Mr. McLarnin didn't have much to say, either, other than he was still cross with Mr. Crosby, who won a sum of money from Mr. McLarnin at golf in Seattle recently. Mr. McLarnin did not object to losing the money, but he paid off in Canadian funds, and Mr. Crosby refused to pay the rate of exchange.

Mr. Crosby, as talkative as usual, in his slow and casual fashion, laid down his opinion of television.

"I don't like it," he said.

"I work at it when I have to but I'll never go for a regular show," he said.

Mr. Crosby and Mr. Harris were scheduled to leave at 2 p.m. for Seattle, where Mr. Crosby is to tape-record a radio show for later presentation; Mr. Godfrey left at 10:15 for West Virginia via Seattle, and Mr. McLarnin should have left two days ago for Vancouver, but he, too, likes it here.

Diefenbaker Accepts U.S. Security Pledge

'Not Explicit' But Satisfactory

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he is satisfied the United States government in the future will not use Canadian-supplied security information about Canadians in a manner unacceptable to this country.

While he said in a statement Thursday a U.S. note on this subject was "not explicit," he added today that the note contains an implicit promise which he is accepting.

"I regard this as an understanding, clear and unequivocal," he said to reporters.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke with newspaper men during a lunchtime recess in a cabinet meeting.

The U.S. note, made public in Ottawa and Washington Thursday, was in reply to a Canadian request last April 10 that security information on Canadians supplied to the U.S. by this country be kept under the control of the American administration.

Signed by Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, the note was delivered in Washington Tuesday to Norman Robertson, Canadian ambassador to the U.S. It said:

"The procedures which have been followed by the security agencies of my government in the past and which they will continue to follow in the future, including the handling of information received from Canadian sources, are consistent with the assurances you seek."

A statement issued later by Mr. Diefenbaker's office said in part:

"When asked to comment upon the United States note published today concerning exchange of security information, Mr. Diefenbaker noted that the views expressed in the Canadian note of April 10 on this subject had been passed on to Congress and said that his general impression was that while the United States note was not explicit, it seems evident that the directive given United States agencies concerning their procedures in handling security information is consistent in substance with the assurance Canada had sought."

FURTHER TALKS
Mr. Diefenbaker, who is also external affairs minister, said the government will give careful study to the U.S. note. He welcomed U.S. suggestions of further consultations concerning security arrangements.

The April 10 Canadian request stemmed from the April 4 suicide in Cairo of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt. His death followed by less than a month allegations by the U.S. Senate internal security sub-committee that Mr. Norman was a Communist.

There was no comment on the Murphy note from the sub-committee headed by Senator James Eastland (Dem., Miss.), nor did the Canadian Embassy in Washington have anything to say. Murphy's note apparently tried to walk the thin line between satisfying the Canadian demand and antagonizing the sub-committee. The silence from both quarters indicated he had succeeded.

MERGER ISSUE DOMINATES SATURDAY SAANICH VOTE

Saanich ratepayers vote Saturday on a proposed $225,000 municipal hall renovation and addition, but their ballots will have a strong bearing on the long-standing amalgamation issue.

Approval of the project will doom the proposal for a joint Victoria-Saanich municipal hall—considered a logical first step towards amalgamation of the two municipalities.

A negative vote will be interpreted as a desire by voters for investigation of amalgamation.

Here are the facts:

1. Voting 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.
2. Thirteen polling places. (See Page 3.)
3. 19,880 eligible to vote.
4. Only property owners on current year's voters' list can vote.
5. Sixty per cent majority needed to pass.

British Star's Big Speedboat Flies 200 Feet

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (UP)—Donald Campbell's fifth and final attempt on Canandaigua Lake to break his world's water speed record in his jet hydroplane Bluebird ended in near-tragic failure today.

The British speedboater averaged 209.25 miles an hour for this compulsory two runs this morning, some 16 miles an hour short of his record set last year on England's Lake Coniston.

Campbell's narrow escape came in the middle of his south run. Bluebird was traveling approximately 240 miles an hour when it hit a swell caused by a small pleasure craft which moved across the lake prior to the run.

"I was afraid I was going to flip," Campbell who was visibly shaken, said. "The Bluebird was airborne for about 200 feet."

Campbell slowed down—as rapidly as safety allowed and still finished the run with an average speed of 220.83 miles an hour. His record average is 225 miles an hour.

Chinese Reds Crush Major Bandit Group

TOKYO (AP)—Communist security forces in central China's Shensi province have crushed a large-scale anti-revolutionary organization west of Sian, Radio Peiping said Thursday night.

The broadcast identified the organization as the China Justice Salvation Army, made up of "bandits and reactionary local bosses" plotting to overthrow the Communist government.

It has been holding secret meetings and expanding its organization, the radio said.

Security troops arrested its leader, Chan Chin-yu, and captured all of the organization's weapons and documents. The Chinese language broadcast heard here said. The arrests were made in co-operation with the local population.

Atom Power Carrier For U.S.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Navy today assigned construction of its first atomic-powered aircraft carrier, an $5,000-ton job to Newport News, Va. Shipbuilding and Drydock Co.

The Navy said that the ship to be the largest ever built, was awarded to Newport News without bids but the award is "subject to acceptable contract negotiations."

The Navy disclosed plans for building the 314 million dollar ship in announcing the major part of its $1,584,000,000 shipbuilding and conversion program for fiscal 1958.

Dockers' Strike Idles 100 Ships At London Piers

LONDON (Reuters)—One hundred ships were idle in the port of London today as 12,000 dock workers refused to handle goods until Monday in their strike in sympathy with men at five strikebound London fruit and vegetable wholesale markets.

Portland Golfer Seniors' Champ

Bill Blakely, Portland, today won the grand championship of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association at the Victoria Golf Club, defeating George Sparling of the home club, 6 and 5 in the 18-hole final. Blakely was 4 up after nine holes.

Never c'd figger whut it is th' "old guard" on Saanich Council is guardian—unless it's their memories o' th' of days when 'Saanich wuz jist a few farms.

I liked th' Roundabout better when it wuz a horse trough 'stead of a horse laff.

Senate Rescue Of Foreign Aid Ike's One Hope

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland told President Eisenhower today that with Democratic help the Senate may restore a "substantial" part of the 809 million dollars chopped from foreign aid funds by the House.

Knowland said after a breakfast strategy conference with Eisenhower that the President's threat to call Congress into special session to boost the mutual security appropriation was not discussed. But it remained a strong possibility.

In cutting back the aid bill Thursday, the House ignored the special session threat and urgent appeals from Eisenhower and Democratic ex-president Truman. It voted a total of $3,191,810,000—including $2,524,760,000—in new money and $667,050,000 in carryover funds. This is a reduction of $1,287,000,000 or 30 per cent less than Eisenhower's "bare bones" demand.

It was one of Eisenhower's worst Congressional defeats.

Knowland said he would "explore on a bipartisan basis" how much of the slash could be put back by the senate, which will take up the bill next week.

Knowland said the President "is hopeful that the Senate will be able to review the House action and restore a substantial part of the amount cut." He added, however, that he did not think Congress will finally restore all the House cut.

Acting Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield predicted the Senate appropriations committee and Senate will approve between $2,800,000,000 and three billion dollars. He said the final Congressional figure would be somewhere between that and the $2,524,760,000 house total. No Senate action is expected before next week.

Syrian Planes Force American Craft to Land

LONDON (UP)—Cairo radio reported today that Syrian planes forced an American plane to land in Damascus Thursday "for hovering over Syrian territory without obtaining permission."

"A squadron of Syrian planes forced the American plane to land when it ignored the warning while flying over Syrian territory," the Cairo broadcast said.

Disarmament Parley Recesses For Four Days

LONDON (Reuters)—Delegates to the five-power London disarmament conference today started a four-day recess from formal talks under the shadow of a fundamental disagreement between East and West which crystallized at Thursday's session.

L. B. PEARSON

IN THE TIMES

'Mike' Turns Newspaper Columnist

Lester B. "Mike" Pearson, recognized by all shades of opinion as "one of the great international figures developed by Canada, will begin writing for Times readers Saturday.

The minister of external affairs in the defeated Liberal administration, has turned to writing a national column. Once a week he will tell the inside stories of big things that are happening in the nation and the world.

Mr. Pearson has been touted as the possible next leader of the Liberal party, a post that could make him a future prime minister of Canada.

His great work for Canada at home and abroad, and in the United Nations, make him a storehouse of information that few people have. His writing is clear and dramatic. In politics he writes all his own speeches and has the turn of phrase which lifts him far above the ordinary.

Times readers will undoubtedly follow his column with the greatest interest.

Phone Rates Increase in East Asked

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Bell Telephone Company of Canada filed an application with the board of transport commissioners today for approval of increased telephone service rates in Ontario and Quebec.

The company, which said it needed $24 million more in operating revenues during the coming year, asked for the increases to be made effective not later than next Jan. 1.

The increases varied from point to point on the telephone company's system.

The Toronto rate, now $4.25 per month for two party residence phones and $14.00 for one party business lines, would be raised to $4.65 and $17.25.

City Cadet Winner Of Rifle Aggregate

A 16-year-old Victoria air cadet is winner of the Burke aggregate at Dominion of Canada Rifle Association matches at Ottawa's Connaught Ranges, it was announced by the DCRA today.

He is Peter N. Roche, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Roche, 3159 Glasgow. He also received $100 cash prize.

Peter, a Victoria High School grade 10 student next term, scored a total of 594 of a possible 625 points in seven major matches to beat out all other competitors in their first year in the DCRA shoot.

The Burke award means he beat all other cadets or juniors in their first year on the range in official shoots.

He has been a Royal Canadian Air Force Cadet two years, holds the rank of sergeant with the Kinsmen Squadron here, and is slated for promotion next month. He's a member of the rifle team.

"He is an excellent cadet," said his officers today. Peter qualified to go to Connaught Ranges in test shoots between cadets of all three services in Vancouver.

'SOCREDS MISLEAD PUBLIC'

Double-Taxes in B.C. Blasted by CCF Chief

SURREY (CP)—B.C. citizens are the most overtaxed and unnecessarily taxed people in North America, provincial CCF leader Bob Strachan said Thursday.

Mr. Strachan, speaking in support of Len Sheppard, CCF candidate in the Delta by-election, said the Social Credit government was double-taxing for single government services and projects.

He accused Premier Bennett of misleading the public on the necessity of toll bridges and the 5 per cent sales tax which pays for provincial hospital insurance.

"The highway act stipulates that three cents of the 10-cent gasoline tax be specifically earmarked for highways and bridges.

"If Premier Bennett has toll bridges he doesn't need the three cents extra tax on gasoline." Mr. Strachan said the premier was using "flummery and humbug" to pull the wool over the eyes of B.C. citizens.

zens in connection with hospital insurance.

"He says the government has subsidized the BCHIS to the tune of $223,000 in the last three years," he said. "But in the year 1955-56 the government transferred $2,623,814 from hospital insurance funds to general revenue."

"In the last completed fiscal year the Social Credit government gouged more than $6,000,000 from the people which was supposed to go to hospitals and didn't."

"No wonder the premier can't find the $17,000,000-odd he did not know he had."

Wenner-Gren Plan Finances Secure

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Financing of the billion-dollar industrial scheme of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Ltd. in British Columbia Rocky Mountain trench will not be affected by United States or Canadian financial conditions, managing director Bernard Gore said here Thursday.

He said the B.C. development is "entirely sponsored by the Wenner-Gren foundation with connections around the world."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

God of all truth, let the light of Thy truth shine in our hearts. As our schools soon open again to lead our youth in the study of life and its mysteries, unfold to them and their teachers the sublime meaning of our relations to Thee as trustful children and to one another as brothers and sisters in Jesus Christ, Amen.

FLU GERMS LAUNCHED BY REDS, VETS CHARGE

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars asked the United Nations today to investigate the possibility that Red China or Russia launched Asiatic flu germs in the free world. State Commander William J. Tepsix made the request in a letter to Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations.

Margaret to Attend W. Indies Legislature

A visit by Princess Margaret to the West Indies next spring has been announced by Buckingham Palace, but there is still no official confirmation that she has accepted British Columbia's invitation to attend the main celebrations, although they insist no formal word has yet been received.

The royal princess will attend the inauguration of the federal legislature of the West Indies on April 22, 1958, as the Queen's representative.

Some sources speculated that she might come to Canada from there. But in Ottawa a spokesman for Prime Minister Diefenbaker's office said the federal government has "no information" on whether this will take place.

Killer Whales' Frolic Fright for Fishermen

Frank Porter, 2338 Heron, and John Blackey, Fair Street, were fishing off Sooke last Saturday

Suddenly the school of about 20 whales, each weighing about five tons, appeared around their boat.

"I never met with such a hair-raising experience," said Mr. Porter. "The whales were all around and under us—we pulled out of the school just in time."

The harrowing adventure began when Mr. Blackey got a strike and began to reel his salmon in. The fish was about five feet from the canoe when someone in a fishing boat nearby yelled, "pull your line in quickly!"

As Mr. Blackey jerked his line, he saw the fin of a 20-foot whale about five feet away from the boat. The canoe rose out of the water but came down on an even keel.

Meanwhile, Mr. Porter, who was reeling his line, saw a killer whale take his salmon, line and sinker about 15 feet away from the canoe.

"We suddenly realized that we were surrounded by killers," he said. "The boat heaved a few times and some of the whales passed underneath."

"Then they started to circle as if they were about to make a general attack," he added. "We raced out of the danger area."

MONTE ROBERTS

Our Mr. Hutchison has been talking of snobs lately. He lists a few snobs as nominated by Hugh Garner, and he adds a few of his own.

But neither our Mr. Hutchison nor Mr. Garner mentioned the type of snob who annoys me most.

This is the snob who uses a four-dollar word where a fifty-center would do equally well.

Or better.

And I believe I have detected a flagrant case of four-dollar word snobbery in an illuminated invitation being sent out by the centennial committee.

The invitation promises, in part, "Great Historic Scenes reinvoked before you."

Reinvoked.

Now, there is, indeed, a classic example of four-buck snobbery.

And what is worse, reinvoked, while it has the appearance of a four-dollar word, isn't.

In fact, it isn't a word at all. Or if it is, neither the Oxford English Dictionary nor Webster's has ever heard of it.

And, if it is accepted as a "made-up" word, reinvokes is still incorrect as used in the invitation.

Invoke means (and I quote Oxford): "To call on (God, a deity, etc.) in prayer or as a witness; to appeal to for aid or protection; to summon or invite in prayer. 2. To summon (a spirit) by charms or invocation; to conjure. 3. To utter (a sacred name) in invocation. 4. To make supplication for, to implore. 5. Admiralty prize procedure. To call in evidence from a parallel case, or from the papers of a sister ship of the same owners."

I note in passing that this splendid invitation is signed by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Kinver Beach, closed to the general public because of the danger of pollution, was reopened Thursday by Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtel and G. K. Sammon, chairman of Esquimalt's Health Board.

Esquimalt spent $7,000 to eliminate the Kinver septic tank in order to provide a safe swimming area for children.

Weekly talent parade at Beaver Lake Showboat features six contestants tonight at 7.30 p.m. They are Betty Warren, 13; Jo Humber, 16; Ken Ryall, 16; Margaret Lowman, 15, and Melvin Shanks, 17. Specialties include clarinet and accordion solos, vocals and dancing.

Judges are Robin Stewart, Dave Townsend and Reg Wood. Contest finals take place at the lake on Labor Day.

Provincial government offices will be closed Monday, Sept. 2, for the Labor Day holiday.

The museum will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Tonight at 8 p.m. the S. J. Willis High School band will be featured in Beacon Hill Park concert sponsored by the Victoria Film Council.

The band will be conducted by C. H. Denike.

A film on the Edinburgh festival will be shown.

Donald Edward Broadworth, 1536 Vining, and Sandor Jonas, 933 Ellery, each were fined $35 in city police court today for careless driving.

Improvements At Airport In Estimates

Federal expenditure for a new terminal building at Patricia Bay airport has been included in transport department estimates.

Provision for extension of runways will also be included, depending on studies now underway by engineers.

The government action was outlined to the Times by a reliable source.

But it was pointed out money in the estimates must be approved in a treasury board review in late autumn before cabinet consideration is certain.

No amounts were stated.

Transport Minister George Hees and his deputy minister John Baldwin acknowledged the need for the new building when they visited here recently.

Times Ottawa correspondent William Mackie says no report has yet been made to the minister by engineers now surveying the possible extension of runways.

Unions Hail CLC Hookup By Trainmen

Victoria union men today hailed the decision of Canada's largest independent union to join the Canadian Labor Congress.

The 25,000-strong Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen announced Thursday it has completed arrangements to affiliate with CLC Sept. 1.

"We are very happy to hear the news," one Victoria labor official commented.

"The progress of labor in Canada is always good news to those of us that try to assist each other."

The growing railway wing of the Victoria Labor Council may increase in size as a result of the BRT decision.

Newest affiliate to the council is Lodge 690 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen which joined only last month.

BRT's Lodge 613 here "quite possibly" will follow suit with its 70 members sometime in the future, agent Hugh Douglas said.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Oshawa returns Aug. 31.

Sussexville, Ste. Therese on UNTD training course returning Aug. 30.

Fraser left today on exercises, returns Sept. 17.

Jonquiere returns Monday.

Fortune, leaves a.m. Sunday.

James Bay leaves a.m. Monday returns Aug. 30.

Oak Bay Girl Tops Job Essay Contest

Blue-eyed Anne Hassen, a 16-year-old student at Oak Bay Senior High School, learned today she has won the top prize of $250 in the Vancouver Board of Trade annual job essay.

Anne's essay, a 50-page illustrated effort entitled "The Marine Biologist," was picked from more than 20,000 essays submitted by junior and senior high school students all over the province.

It took her four months to write and the result of nearly two years' leisure-time study of marine biology along the North Pacific coast.

Anne received the glad news from her father, R. F. Hassen.

Characteristically, Anne went on quietly with her job and had to be coaxed to step outside for an interview.

"Of course I'm very happy about it," she said. "I naturally hoped my essay would win a prize but knowing there would be thousands of entries I hardly hoped to win the top prize."

Anne had a ready answer to the question: "How do you plan to spend the $250?"

"I shan't spend it," she said emphatically. "I shall put it in the bank and save it for when I go to university."

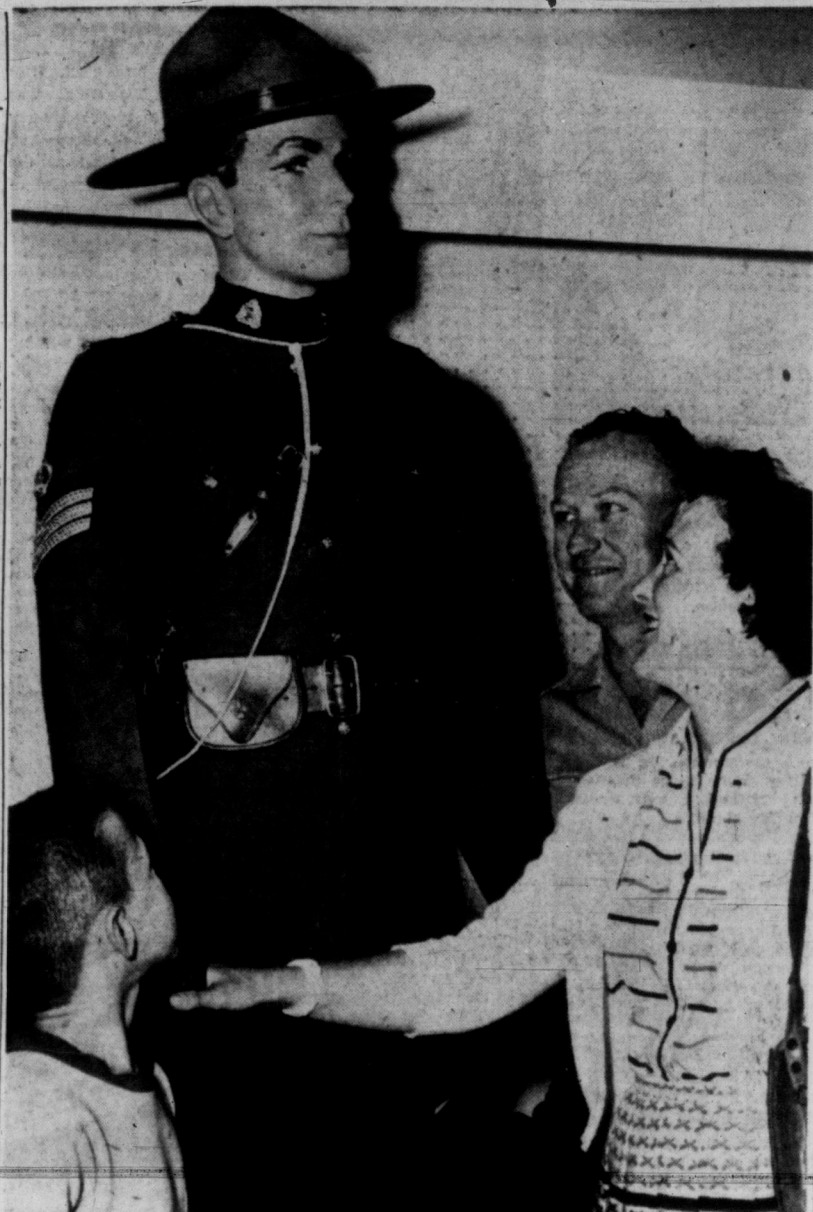

What university? The University of British Columbia, of course. But before then Anne hopes to put in some serious study at Victoria College.

"She hasn't yet decided on a career but may follow her bent and become a biologist."

She will receive her $250 prize from Education Minister Leslie Peterson at the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver, next Thursday at 8 p.m.

The second prize of $150 in the contest was won by Margaret Obama of Vernon High School for her essay "Pharmacists Help Promote B.C.'s Public Health."

The third award of $100 goes to Elizabeth Tarlton of Cowichan High School for her essay on B.C. Fisheries.

NOT MANY OF THIS VARIETY

Tourists complain scarlet-coated Mounties are scarce in B.C., but these Idaho visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Rawleigh Sweeney and son Rickie, 11, found one at Hudson's Bay Historical Exhibition today. He isn't alive its true but he stands guard on rare collection of early B.C. relics. (Times Photo.)

Members of the Capital City Yacht Club will make this possible.

First of all, there'll be a grand "water parade" around Mill Bay, which fronts the solarium, of 30 gaily decorated boats in charge of fleet captain, Don Jamieson. The bay will be circled once before the gay flotilla anchors and visitors go ashore to meet the youngsters.

Visitors each will have their own designated youngster to greet, and will bring gifts. After, the 40 kiddies and all their friends will enjoy a leisurely mixed visit.

Norman Hill, past commodore of the club, is chairman of the event which was held in years past, dropped, and started again this year.

City Man Killed In Fall Off Peak

The body of a 31-year-old Victoria geologist, killed in a fall on a B.C. Interior mountain peak, will be returned here for burial.

Funeral service for Dr. Cecil George Hewlett, 1879 Kings Road, will be held early next week.

A team of pack horses this morning brought the body down from Monument Peak, near Invermere.

Dr. Hewlett plunged 2,000 feet from the 10,000-foot peak of the mountain Wednesday.

It was on a mapping survey for the provincial mines department with Arthur Jellinek, 25, an undergraduate at the University of Toronto.

It took RCMP, Forest Service employees, and volunteers, more than 24 hours to bring out the body.

Monument Peak, is in the Purcell mountains, 35 miles west of Invermere. The terrain made the search extremely hazardous.

Dr. Hewlett graduated from the University of B.C. in 1949 and received a doctor's degree from the University of Wisconsin.

He is survived by the widow, Catherine, and an infant son, John.

Dr. G. F. Walker, deputy minister of mines, said it was a "tragic accident," the first fatality within his department.

B.C. Salmon Take Highest Since '53

Salmon catch on this coast to date this year is the highest since 1953, the department of fisheries announced today.

Total catch to August 10 this year amounted to 586,666 cases, compared with 525,407 cases the same time last year.

In 1953 to mid-August, 694,767 cases were handled.

Sockeye this year is down to 162,263 compared with last year's 300,953 cases. Springs, bluebacks, coho, pinks and chum are all up, with a slight drop registered in steelheads.

Smaller Classes Ruled Out

B.C. Short 200 Teachers Minister Tells P-T Group

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said today it will be impossible to have smaller classes in B.C. schools this fall.

The request was made in a brief presented to the cabinet by the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation.

Before the three-member PTA delegation met the cabinet, Mr. Peterson said in an interview it is expected there will be a shortage of at least 200 teachers when school opens next month.

The shortage will be most acute in rural areas, Mr. Peterson said.

Any attempt to reduce the size of classes would benefit the populated Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island district at the expense of up-country areas, the minister said.

The PTA delegation, headed by president Mrs. Walter V. McDonald, also asked for an end to the one-year emergency teacher training program.

Other requests: modification of the three-mile limit for transportation cost sharing where individual school boards can prove special hazard; increase in provincial grants on a basis of one teacher to 30 pupils instead of one to 35 as at present; and official releases on government education policy.

The proposals were approved by the Federation's Easter convention.

Record Crowds For Labor Day

Travel services, hotel and motel associations in Victoria area expect a record movement of holidaymakers over the Labor Day weekend, Aug. 31 to Sept. 2.

With the holiday still two weeks away, reservation lists are crammed.

Officials say the fact the holiday comes earlier than usual this year, and Victoria appears to be having a "late-breaking" summer, will strain travel and guest facilities.

The holiday is observed on the same date in the United States, which is expected to bring waves of tourists to Victoria.

CPR B.C. Coast Steamship Service says a rush for reservations for cars and cabins to Vancouver Friday, Aug. 30, is already well under way.

"We are booking up rapidly," said the company.

The company announced Thursday, its Princess of Nanaimo will make an extra return trip between Nanaimo and Vancouver Sept. 2 to ease heavy passenger traffic.

Trans-Canada Air Lines reports that seven extra flights have been set for the Friday and Monday and already they are almost completely booked.

"If the demand continues, more flights may be arranged, depending on whether planes are available."

Flights are set hourly until 5 p.m., when they will be scheduled every half-hour to Vancouver, until 10 p.m.

First Contact In 3 Weeks In Milk Fight

First contact in three weeks was to be made this afternoon between union officials and the representatives of four milk distributors in the city.

The two sides—deadlocked in a wage and delivery schedule dispute—have not met since the vote of 165 milk salesmen and plant employees favoring a strike.

Only exploratory talks were to be held at the meeting. No commitments on either side were expected.

Tonight at 7.30, policy committee of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union, will meet in the Labor Hall to discuss the afternoon session.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—It sticks in my mind that John Cabot got a rather miserly reward for finding North America. Is this true? F.K.

A. Cabot received 10 pounds and the rank of admiral from King Henry VII. The land he discovered was probably Cape Breton Island and the nearby island, "New Found Land."

This was June 24, 1497.

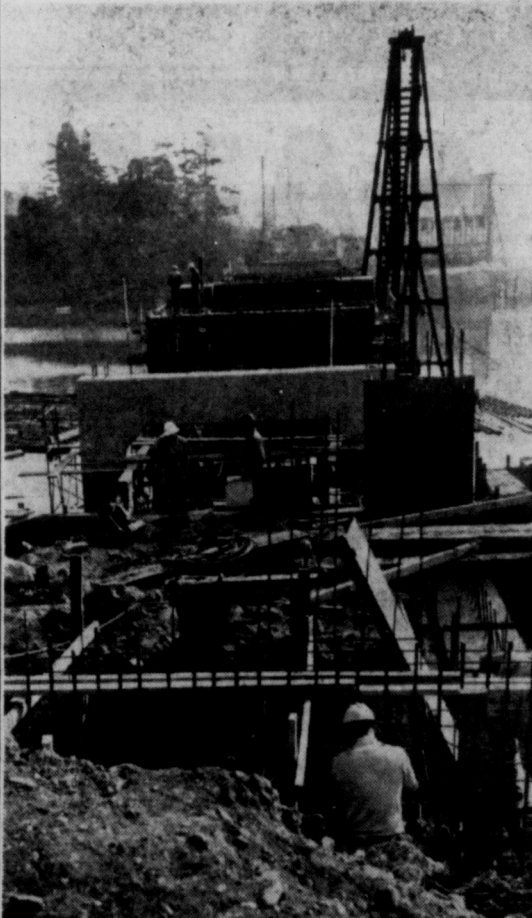

Q. What was the first metal worked by man?

A. Copper. It was used as early as 5,000 years BC for tools and implements, probably because it can be beaten into shape even when cold.

The metal was named from the island of Cyprus, where the Romans obtained their supply. Indians here made copper beads and tools long before the white man came.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

BRIDGE STEEL DUE MONDAY

Workmen are rushing extension of piers at Point Ellice Bridge today. First of steel is due to arrive Monday. Dominion Bridge Company pre-fabricated sections will be installed first at west end of the span, probably late in the week. City hopes for completion in early November. Next civic project will be new main fire hall. (Times Photo.)

Colorful Tray of Fruit Makes Housewife Artist

By PENNY SAVER

A housewife with artistic leanings can certainly express them these summer days. She can create a real work of art with a colorful fruit platter, with peach halves filled with blueberries, pear halves, pink and yellow and green melon slices and so on.

Okanagan fruit is on the market for this weekend. I noticed big peaches, perfect for a fruit platter or in a lunch box, at 25 cents for five. Or you can buy a case of them to get started at canning for $2.49.

Bartlett pears are coming down in price as supplies increase, and you'll find you can buy five of them for 25 cents. They make a delicious salad combined with cottage cheese and topped with a few chopped walnuts.

Local strawberries are long since finished, but if you'd like a few to add color to your fruit platter, there are California imports at 39 cents a hallock.

There are plenty of blackberries, selling at 35 cents for two hallocks, and blueberries are 35 cents for one hallock.

I noticed greengage plums, nice for jelly and jam, on the fruit stands today. They're 25 cents for two pounds. Prune plums from California are in good supply, at 39 cents for two pounds. Local Bradshaws are 25 cents for three pounds.

Apricots are dwindling rapidly — prices are going up and you'll find them at 33 cents for two pounds this weekend. Apples are still in short supply. There are some local ones on the market—they looked like transparent to me—selling at 25 cents for three pounds.

Half a grapefruit, sprinkled with sugar and centred with a cherry, makes a perfect start to a warm-weather meal, instead of hot soup. You can buy five grapefruit for just 29 cents.

There's plenty of locally-grown corn on the weekend market, and it's getting cheaper. Noticed it at 45 cents for half a dozen cobs.

Red cabbage adds a note of color, as well as delicious crunchiness, to a salad. It's selling at two pounds for 31 cents.

"One thing—no one can say our standard of existing isn't improving!"

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Should Brush Hair, Use Tonics for an Oily Scalp

Q.—I don't see why I should brush my hair. It is very oily and brushing just makes it oilier.

A.—It is true that brushing makes the hair oilier because it distributes the oil from the scalp over the hair. However, the important thing is to remedy the abnormal condition. The reason your scalp is oily is because the little oil glands are too relaxed and pour out more oil than normal. The stimulation brushing provides is helpful in overcoming this condition. There also are splendid tonics for oily scalps on the market.

Q.—When a girl has dark brown hair and black lashes and brows what color eyebrow pencil and mascara should she use?

A.—Always use a brown eye-brow pencil. In your case a dark brown. With lighter hair one would use a lighter brown. Even when hair and brows and lashes are very dark you will achieve a more natural effect with a brown pencil than a black one. Use black mascara.

Q.—I have a teen-age son who has never had mumps. My neighbors say that it is necessary for him to have mumps. Please explain in your column why they say this is necessary.

A.—When an individual has mumps a secondary involvement may cause sterility. However, this is not usual. I suppose your friends have this in mind and feel that mumps might be more severe in later years. However, many people never have mumps. The only concern should be to see that your son follows his doctor's orders if and when he does catch this disease.

Q.—Lately my hair is very oily and looks dull and lifeless. I also have a few scabs on my scalp. My skin is rather oily, too, yet I have a few dry spots on my forehead and eyebrows. Sometimes scales appear here. What can I do about such a condition?

A.—It sounds as though you have a skin disease. Your forehead and brows are probably the result of the scalp condition. I suggest that you see your family physician and if he thinks it necessary he will refer you to a skin specialist.

In Honor of the Bride

An August bride-elect, Miss Shirley Ann Turner, was honored at a recent shower given by Mrs. John Stavrakov and Miss Dayle Heal at the home of the latter. A corsage of yellow roses and white heather was presented to the guest of honor while her mother, Mrs. H. Turner, and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. S. Heal, received pink and red gladioli. Gifts were placed in a wishing well and handed to the bride-to-be by Miss Karen Harvey. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table centered with a silver bowl of pink snapdragons and white chrysanthemums. Miss D. Kerr poured. Other guests were Mrs. A. Green, Mrs. H. J. Heal, Mrs. L. Godfrey, Mrs. H. Harvey, Mrs. W. Unwin, Mrs. R. Straith, Mrs. H. Wilkinson, Mrs. E. S. Cross, Mrs. C. Tubbs, Mrs. D. Zeits, Mrs. P. Thow and Misses E. West, K. Stobart, L. McDonald and M. Basset.

Of Foreign Aid
Ike's One Hope

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland told President Eisenhower today that with Democratic help the Senate may restore a "substantial" part of the $809 million dollars chopped from foreign aid funds by the House.

Knowland said after a break-fast strategy conference with Eisenhower that the President's threat to call Congress into special session to boost the mutual security appropriation was not discussed. But it remained a strong possibility.

In cutting back the aid bill Thursday, the House ignored the special session threat and urgent appeals from Eisenhower and Democratic ex-president Truman. It voted a total of $3,191,810,000—including $2,524,760,000—in new money and $667,050,000 in carryover funds. This is a reduction of $1,287,000,000 or 30 per cent less than Eisenhower's "bare bones" demand.

It was one of Eisenhower's worst Congressional defeats. Knowland said he would "ex-

SUNNY DAYS TO CONTINUE FIVE DAYS

It looked this afternoon as though Victoria's current three-day stretch of sunny weather may be parlayed into an eight-day run.

Weather office reported that the 48-hour outlook showed "sunny and warm" prospects for the weekend.

Temperature at 2.30 p.m. today was 63 degrees.

"There is no indication of rain for the next five days. Temperatures should be normal for this time of year—maximums of 68 or 70 and minimums of about 52," he said.

"It's no heat wave but a pleasant spell of weather for a change."

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (AP)—A Varig Airlines Super-Constellation heading for Miami for repairs fell into the sea today off the northern coast of the Dominican Republic.

Ten or 11 crew members were reported aboard. The plane carried no passengers. One crew member was known dead and one missing. Another was reported hurt.

Canadian Must Go

SEATTLE (AP)—Mrs. Hazel Anna Wolf, 58, was directed today by immigration officials to report Aug. 26 for deportation to her native Canada.

John P. Boyd, district director of immigration, said the action followed a Supreme Court denial of Mrs. Wolf's latest appeal.

Mrs. Wolf came to the United States from Vancouver, in 1922. The government has been seeking to deport her since 1949 on grounds of Communist party membership.

Tops in Entertainment World
Here—They Simply Love It

By MONTE ROBERTS

The Fort Knox of the U.S. entertainment world shifted temporarily to the Victoria area today.

Arthur Godfrey, man about radio and television, who is down to his last half-dozen planes (including a modest

Phil Harris, who parlayed a Barleycorn (but undeserved) reputation into a fair assortment of substantial assets, including Alice Faye.

Also, the respective business managers of Mr. Crosby and Mr. Harris, who are not doing too badly. And millionaire ex-fighter (world welterweight champ in the early '30s) Jimmy McLarnin, golfing pal of Bing and Phil.

How all these stalwart citizens happened to be here on the same day can be expressed in a phrase

dear to the hearts of our Publicity Bureau:

VANCOUVER ISLAND IS BEAUTIFUL.

Crosby and Harris are perennial Vancouver Island visitors. As Bing mentioned today, during a stroll up Government Street: "I feel comfortable here. Almost as if it were my home town."

As if to prove it, Victoria citizens who passed us as we walked along the street paid no attention to the slight, slouched

Campbell's Bluebird
Flies Through Air

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (UP)—Donald Campbell's fifth and final attempt on Canandaigua Lake to break his world's water speed record in his jet hydroplane Bluebird ended in near-tragic failure today.

The British speedboater averaged 209.25 miles an hour for this compulsory two runs this morning, some 16 miles an hour short of his record set last year.

Campbell's narrow escape came in the middle of his south run. Bluebird was travelling approximately 240 miles an hour when it hit a swell caused by a small pleasure craft which moved across the lake prior to the run.

"I was afraid I was going to flip," Campbell who was visibly shaken, said. "The Bluebird was airborne for about 200 feet."

Campbell slowed down as rapidly as safety allowed and still finished the run with an average speed of 220.83 miles an hour. His record average is 225 miles an hour.

'IMPLICIT PROMISE'

Diefenbaker Accepts
U.S. Security Pledge

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he is satisfied the United States government in the future will not use Canadian-supplied security information about Canadians in a manner unacceptable to this country.

While he said in a statement Thursday a U.S. note on the subject was "not explicit," he added today that the note contains an implicit promise which he is accepting.

"I regard this as an undertaking, clear and unequivocal," he said to reporters.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke with newspaper men during a lunchtime recess in a cabinet meeting.

The U.S. note, made public in Ottawa and Washington Thursday, was in reply to a Canadian request last April 10 that security information on Canadians supplied to the U.S. by this country be kept under the control of the American administration.

Signed by Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, the note was delivered in Washington Tuesday to Nor-

'Mike' Turns
Newspaper
Columnist

Lester B. "Mike" Pearson, recognized by all shades of opinion as one of the great international figures developed by Canada, will begin writing for Times readers Saturday.

The minister of external affairs in the defeated Liberal administration, has turned to writing a national column. Once a week he will tell the inside stories of big things that are happening in the nation and the world.

Mr. Pearson has been touted as the possible next leader of the Liberal party, a post that could make him a future prime minister of Canada.

His great work for Canada at home and abroad, and in the United Nations, make him a storehouse of information that few people have. His writing is clear and dramatic. In politics he writes all his own speeches and has the turn of phrase which lifts him far above the ordinary.

Times readers will undoubtedly follow his column with the greatest interest.

MERGER ISSUE DOMINATES
SATURDAY SAANICH VOTE

Saanich ratepayers vote Saturday on a proposed $225,000 municipal hall renovation and addition, but their ballots will have a strong bearing on the long-standing amalgamation issue.

Approval of the project will doom the proposal for a joint Victoria-Saanich municipal hall—considered a logical first step towards amalgamation of the two municipalities.

A negative vote will be interpreted as a desire by voters for investigation of amalgamation.

Here are the facts:

1. Voting 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.
2. Thirteen polling places. (See Page 3.)
3. 19,880 eligible to vote.
4. Only property owners on current year's voters' list can vote.
5. Sixty per cent majority needed to pass.

City Cadet Winner
Of Rifle Aggregate

A 16-year-old Victoria air cadet is winner of the Burke aggregate at Dominion of Canada Rifle Association matches at Ottawa's Connaught Ranges, today.

He is Peter N. Roche, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Roche, 3159

Glasgow. He also received $100 cash prize.

Peter, a Victoria High School grade 10 student next term, scored a total of 594 of a possible 625 points in seven major matches to beat out all other competitors in their first year in the DCRA shoot.

The Burke award means he beat all other cadets or juniors in their first year on the range in official shoots.

He has been a Royal Canadian Air Force Cadet two years, holds the rank of sergeant with the Kinsmen Squadron here, and is slated for promotion next month. He's a member of the rifle team.

"He is an excellent cadet," said his officers today. Peter qualified to go to Connaught Ranges in test shoots between cadets of all three services in Vancouver.

Finances Secure

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Financing of the billion-dollar industrial scheme of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Ltd. in British Columbia Rocky Mountain trench will not be affected by United States or Canadian financial conditions, managing director Bernard Gore said here Thursday.

He said the B.C. development is "entirely sponsored by the Wenner-Gren foundation with connections around the world."

Portland Golfer
Seniors' Champ

Bill Blakely, Portland, today won the grand championship of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association at the Victoria Golf Club, defeating George Sparling of the home club, 6 and 5 in the 18-hole final. Blakely was 4 up after nine holes.

NO OFFICIAL WORD ON B.C.

Margaret to Attend W. Indies Legislature

A visit by Princess Margaret, Officials of the B.C. centennial committee have expressed hope that an announcement will be made soon that the princess will accept B.C.'s invitation to attend the main celebrations, though they insist no formal word has yet been received.

The royal princess will attend the inauguration of the federal legislature of the West Indies on April 22, 1958, as the Queen's representative.

Some sources speculated that she might come to Canada from there. But in Ottawa a spokesman for Prime Minister Diefenbaker's office said the federal government has "no information" on whether this will take place.

ANOTHER CONACHER
TORONTO (BUP)—Manager Howie Meeker, of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, said today he has signed Pete Conacher, son of the famous Charlie, and that he will play during the training season on a line with centre Tod Sloan and wing Ron Stewart.

Even the air in a Chevrolet cab is better!

HIGH-LEVEL VENTILATION

Chevrolet drivers are refreshed, alert drivers — safer drivers! Air intake vents are set high above road heat, dust and gas fumes — another of the many practical features that make Chevrolet the most modern truck on the road!

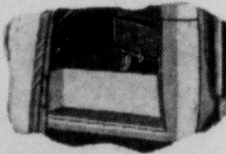

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

practically everything about this cab is better... more modern... more practical!

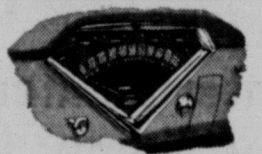

EXTRA ROOMINESS

Drivers like Chevrolet's extra leg room, extra-deep panoramic windshield. The man-size comfort and modern efficiency of the Chevy cab help make Chevrolet-Canada's most popular truck buy!

CONCEALED SAFETY STEP

Getting in and out of a Chevy cab is easier, safer! Door protects step from ice, mud, snow... gives sure, safe footing in ANY weather! From cab to chassis, Chevrolet design leads the way!

QUALITY INTERIOR TRIM

Chevrolet engineer-stylists have done a beautiful job of making Chevrolet the most convenient, most efficient truck you can get! Quality in trim and construction — Chevrolet gives you more of it!

SOFTER, MORE DURABLE SEATS

No-Flex seats — with metered air shock damping and 3-way adjustment — are built for comfort, built to last! Chevrolet Trucks are engineered better, built better, for bigger savings!

Get a cab-full of convenience... a truck-full of work-saving—money-saving features!

Visit your Chevrolet dealer's — see the most modern cabs, chassis and engines you can get. Check ALL the practical features that speed work, cut costs... make Chevrolet Canada's biggest truck value! And this month the value's bigger than ever! Check the peak trade-in allowances your Chevrolet dealer is offering right now. Chinese Reds Crush Major Bandit Group

TOKYO (AP) — Communist security forces in central China's Shensi province have crushed a large-scale anti-revolutionary organization west of Sian, Radio Peiping said Thursday night.

The broadcast identified the organization as the China Justice Salvation Army, made up of "bandits and reactionary local bosses" plotting to overthrow the Communist government.

It has been holding secret meetings and expanding its organization, the radio said.

Security troops arrested its leader, Chan Chin-yu, and captured all of the organization's weapons and documents, the Chinese language broadcast heard here said. The arrests were made in co-operation with the local population.

Syrian Planes Force American Craft to Land

LONDON (UP)—Cairo radio reported today that Syrian planes forced an American plane to land in Damascus Thursday "for hovering over Syrian territory without obtaining permission."

"A squadron of Syrian planes forced the American plane to land when it ignored the warning while flying over Syrian territory," the Cairo broadcast said.

New Track Oval Gets Go-Ahead

One-third of centennial project grants and one-half of the celebration grants totalling $542,893 have been approved by the B.C. Centennial Committee, it was announced today.

Alberta Valley Centennial Committee will get its long-awaited track and field oval for the high school with approval of a grant for $8,592 by the B.C. committee.

With the new track it is hoped to develop Olympic calibre speedsters alongside their already famous basketball team, the Alberni Athletics.

A celebration grant of $6,157 for events tied in with this project plus the Sproat Lake regatta also was approved.

View Royal receives $1,453 for purchase and development of a recreation centre and $968 for a planned Goldstream Park centennial picnic and dance in July next year.

IN SIX WEEKS

Chairman L. J. Wallace said grant applications from communities are coming in at a more rapid rate, and that he expects to have the majority of grants approved within the next six weeks.

Mr. Wallace also estimated that from present indications B.C. would have $3,000,000 in permanent centennial projects by the end of 1958.

Twenty-seven more communities have had their application grants approved this week by the committee.

Langley Centennial Committee received $8,743 to build a museum close to the site of the reconstructed Fort Langley, where the mainland colony of B.C. was born.

SALMON TOAST

When salmon return to their spawning grounds in the Adams River above Salmon Arm, they will be toasted in one of the most unique centennial celebrations.

Salmon Arm centennial committee received $2,782 towards the "celebration which is to be known as the 'Salute to the Sockeye', to take place in October, 1958.

Prince George is receiving $7,784 for its celebrations, to include a winter carnival and sports events. Some of the money will also be used for a canoe race from Fort St. James to Fort George, a distance of 100 miles.

The site of old Fort George, just outside Prince George, is being turned into a centennial park with the $11,676 provincial grant and matching amount from the Prince George committee. Prince George will also build a sports field in the centre of the park to be dedicated "Fort George Centennial Park."

Pentlitz is getting $4,757 for its May 13-19 Peach Festival. The Horsey Centennial Committee has been awarded $346.80 to go towards a new community hall for the district.

'SOCREDS MISLEAD PUBLIC'

Double-Taxes in B.C. Blasted by CCF Chief

SURREY (CP)—B.C. citizens are the most overtaxed and unnecessarily taxed people in North America, provincial CCF leader Bob Strachan said Thursday.

Mr. Strachan, speaking in support of Len Sheppard, CCF candidate in the Delta by-election, said the Social Credit government was double-taxing for single government services and projects.

He accused Premier Bennett of misleading the public on the necessity of toll bridges and the 5 per cent sales tax which pays for provincial hospital insurance.

"The highway act stipulates that three cents of the 10-cent gasoline tax be specifically earmarked for highways and bridges.

"If Premier Bennett has toll bridges he doesn't need the three cents extra tax on gasoline," Mr. Strachan said the premier was using "flummery and humbug" to pull the wool over the eyes of B.C. citizens in connection with hospital insurance.

Rescued Man Identified After Boat Wreck

CAMPBELL RIVER—A man rescued from a gillnetter Tuesday seconds before it burned and sank has been identified as John L. Perry.

He was taken from the sinking boat, the Rapatani, Tuesday by the crew of the Sharon Lee II.

NUDISTS' 'OPEN' HOUSE SATURDAY

Victoria nudists will not permit minors to attend their "open" house at Shawigan Lake Saturday unless they are accompanied by their parents.

W. J. Hannam, 22 Midwood, president of the Sol Sante Club, said this applied to anyone under 21 years of age.

The reception, which starts at 6 p.m., is open to the general public. It will feature a bonfire, wiener roast and a sing-song.

It's the first time the nudist organization has invited the general public to inspect their grounds.

Nobody asked for my autograph, either, but two people said hello, and nobody said hello to Bing.

WENT OVER HIGH

The Arthur Godfrey story is a little different. This was his first visit to the Pacific Northwest—except, as he put it, "on the way to Alaska, and I was too damn high up to see how beautiful this country is."

Godfrey arrived at Sidney this morning aboard the chartered Seattle yacht Cadew—in which Crosby visited Victoria two years ago.

Waiting for him at Patricia Bay airport was his private DC-3 — a twin-engine job at least large enough for Mr. Godfrey, whose hassles with the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Commission have made more headlines than private pilot Godfrey likes.

Aboard the Cadew he expressed sincere regrets on leaving B.C. waters.

"We've been up to Princess Louise Inlet," he said. "It's the most beautiful country in the world — there couldn't be a prettier spot anywhere. There just couldn't be."

Today's meeting was this reporter's first with Mr. Godfrey, so the conversation opened with a fatuous question: "What have you been doing? Fishing?"

"No," said Mr. Godfrey, gravely. "White slaving."

"Is that so?" he was asked. "How's business?"

"Terrible," said Mr. Godfrey. The opinion was expressed that white slaving had always been a good, steady line of work, but Mr. Godfrey said times were changing, and a man could hardly make a dollar that way any more.

Mr. Godfrey then repeated his regrets at leaving B.C. so soon, but explained (modestly) that he was to be honored Monday as leading citizen of his home county, Loudon, West Virginia, on the occasion of its 150th anniversary.

In Victoria, encounters were made with Mr. Harris, Mr. Crosby and Mr. McLarnin.

Mr. Harris confined his remarks to stating he was headed to Strath's to look at tweeds and things, and expressed regret that he would soon have to return to work as a musician-turned-comedian.

Mr. McLarnin didn't have much to say, either, other than he was still cross with Mr. Crosby, who won a sum of money from Mr. McLarnin at golf in Seattle recently. Mr. McLarnin did not object to losing the money, but he paid off in Canadian funds, and Mr. Crosby refused to pay the rate of exchange.

Mr. Crosby, as talkative as usual, in his slow and casual fashion, laid down his opinion of television.

"I don't like it," he said.

"I work at it when I have to but I'll never go for a regular show," he said.

Mr. Crosby and Mr. Harris were scheduled to leave at 2 p.m. for Seattle, where Mr. Crosby is to tape-record a radio show for later presentation; Mr. Godfrey left at 10.15 for West Virginia via Seattle, and Mr. McLarnin should have left two days ago for Vancouver, but he, too, likes it here.

man Robertson, Canadian ambassador to the U.S. It said: "The procedures which have been followed by the security agencies of my government in the past and which they will continue to follow in the future, including the handling of information received from Canadian sources, are consistent with the assurances you seek."

A statement issued later by Mr. Diefenbaker's office said in part:

"When asked to comment upon the United States note published today concerning exchange of security information, Mr. Diefenbaker noted that the views expressed in the Canadian note of April 10 on this subject had been passed on to Congress and said that his general impression was that while the United States note was not explicit, it seems evident that the directive given United States agencies concerning their procedures in handling security information is consistent in substance with the assurance Canada had sought."

FURTHER TALKS

Mr. Diefenbaker, who is also external affairs minister, said the government will give careful study to the U.S. note. He welcomed U.S. suggestions of further consultations concerning security arrangements.

The April 10 Canadian request stemmed from the April 4 suicide in Cairo of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt. His death followed by less than a month allegations by the U.S. Senate Internal security sub-committee that Mr. Norman was a Communist.

There was no comment on the Murphy note from the sub-committee headed by Senator James Eastland (Dem., Miss.), nor did the Canadian Embassy in Washington have anything to say.

Murphy's note apparently tried to walk the thin line between satisfying the Canadian demand and antagonizing the sub-committee. The silence from both quarters indicated he had succeeded.

Disarmament Parley Recedes

LONDON (Reuters) — Delegates to the five-power London disarmament conference today started a four-day recess from formal talks under the shadow of a fundamental disagreement between East and West which crystallized at Thursday's session.

BOSS RELENTS: DOGS, CATS STAY

Dark Days Flick Bright For Pet-Loving Immigrants

Life in Canada, which began darkly 10 days ago for an English couple, today took a sunny turn.

"They can keep their pets. Mr. and Mrs. L. Hogg arrived with their two dogs and two cats Aug. 6 to work at a Duncan farm.

They were shattered to learn from their "flabbergasted" employer that they or the pets would have to go. A mix-up in arrangements had left the employer, unaware of the pets.

"The immigration people in London told us we could bring our pets if it was all right with our employers," Mrs. Hogg said.

NEW JOB

Besides money for food, the couple spent $212 for sea passage and $40 for rail transportation to bring the pets with them. The surprised employer's first reaction sent them frantically to immigration officials in search of another job.

"We're very attached to the pets and we didn't want to lose them," Mrs. Hogg said. "The dogs are just mongrels but one of them saved my husband's life twice when we were on a farm in England."

However, the employer relented after finding out the mix-up wasn't the couple's fault.
